Navy Pact Approval By Senators Likely

By M. H. McINTYRE
SACRIFICING three of the 10,000-ton cruisers of the twenty-one held the minimum essentials by the general board, failing to establish parity in battleships between the United States and Great Britain, conceding an increase ratio to Japan in auxiliaries and having other features against which objections will be raised, the London agreement nevertheless will prove acceptable to the United States Senate and will eventually be ratified, provided definite assurances are given that a concrete building program will be started and the millions of dollars necessary to attain treaty strength will be made available.

Predicated on semi-official version of the transfer of the treaty the general provisions are in substance in conformity with the forecast. In the clause dealing with the three pact limiting auxiliaries the following figures are accepted as accurate:

Great Britain: Eight-inch cruisers, 146,800 tons; light cruisers, 192,200 tons; destroyers, 150,000 tons; submarines, 52,700.

United States: Eight-inch gun cruisers, 180,000 tons; 6-inch gun cruisers, 143,000 destroyers, 150,000; submarines, 53,700.

Japan: Eight-inch gun cruisers, 108,400 tons; 6-inch gun cruisers, 100,450 tons; destroyers, 105,500 tons; submarines, 52,700.

In addition the United States agrees not to complete more than 15 of the big cruisers prior to 1935. Ten per cent transfer between light cruisers and destroyer categories also is provided, and the United States and Great Britain have the option of duplicating each other's cruiser fleets. In addition the much discussed safeguarding clause also is included.

Predicated on the known provisions and provided that there are no "ifs" and "whereas" in the official text that will introduce complications, it seems a foregone conclusion their ratification will not be long delayed.

From the Naval standpoint the objectionable features are outweighed by the advantages gained, if, and this is the crux of the whole situation, this country is willing to stand the money necessary to live up to their terms of the treaty.

It is expected in some quarters that President Hoover will take early occasion to openly advocate the necessity for the undertaking of a comprehensive building program, extending over a span of years, the cost of building the ships the United States is entitled under the agreement.

National Guard Hearing

WITNESSES before the House Military Committee on April 14 declared that the primary object sought by the National Guard Association in its advocacy of the bill of Mr. Speaks (H. R. 10478) creating the "National Guard of the United States" was that the National Guard should be made a reserve unit of the Army of the United States for facile incorporation in that army in emergency, while completely preserving its present character as a State force. The bill embodies resolutions passed at the association's last convention, and was introduced at the instance of the association.

Maj. Gen. Alfred F. Foote, Mass. NG, president of the association, was asked by acting Chairman Ransley to introduce the witnesses for the bill, and in complying stated that under terms of the bill the National Guard would become a real factor in the national defense both in peace and in war.

Former Secretary Baker Endorses Pay Move; May Testify at Hearing

NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War during the World War, has thrown the weight of his opinion behind the movement for adequate service pay.

In a letter to Representative Robert Crosser, of Ohio, Mr. Baker, also a resident of that State, gives his wholehearted support to the contention that the service is inadequately paid and that a revision is vitally needed.

Mr. Baker, although he is actively engaged in business as a member of the firm of Baker, Hostetler and Sidlo, of Cleveland, and a director of the Cleveland Trust Company and the B. O. Railroad, offers to come to Washington and testify.

The text of his letter follows:

Honorable Robert Crosser,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Crosser:—

I am told that an Interdepartmental Pay Board made up of Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard officers has recommended an increase of pay in its services and that the matter either is before or will come before an Army Committee of the House of Representatives of which you are a member.

While I was Secretary of War, Mrs. Baker and I were in a sense members of the Army family and came into very intimate personal and social contact with the officers and their wives and children. We were ourselves poor, trying to make the salary of a Secretary of War meet decently the needs of the life we were obliged to live, and so we were especially sensitive to the burdens imposed upon Army officers by the limitations upon their salaries which the Government had felt obliged to impose.

I think both Mrs. Baker and I had the feeling that the officers and their families in the Army had built up a simple, unpretentious and economical, but dignified and worthy, mode of living and that without exception they, like we, were obliged not only to make every penny count but were often heavily burdened to save here and there little sums against the usual emergencies of life and the demands which the education of their children imposed upon them. The net result of our five years' close observation was the deep conviction on both of our (Please turn to Next Page)

Reserve Chaplain Rebukes Minister for Slur on Corps

A STINGING rebuke was administered this week by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Washington, D. C., and an Army Reserve Chaplain, to the Rev. Peter Ainslie, of Baltimore, for disparaging remarks about service chaplains made by the latter from the Washington pulpit last Sunday.

The affair was the subject of considerable discussion in Washington where there was a decided reaction against the conduct of the Baltimore pastor and keen approbation for the vigorous letter sent to him by Dr. Pierce.

Dr. Pierce had invited Dr. Ainslie to speak in the First Congregational Church last Sunday at one of a series of Union Lenten Services. Present in the congregation were Col. Julian E. Yates, chief of chaplains USA, and many members of the Daughters of the American Revolution who were in the city attending the convention.

The visiting clergyman was quoted, among other remarks, as having made the statement that "there is no more justification for being a chaplain of the Army or Navy than in being a chaplain in a speakeasy."

Typical of the public reaction was editorial comment made on the incident by the Washington Herald, extracts from which follow:

"The aspersions cast upon that splendid body of patriotic church- (Please turn to Page 771)

USMC Officers and Men Cited for Achievements

EIGHT decorations and three letters of commendation have been awarded to Marine officers and men for services performed in Nicaragua and Haiti.

The Distinguished Service Medal was awarded to Lt. Col. Charles R. Sanderson, the Distinguished Flying Cross to Maj. Louis M. Bourne, jr., 1st Lts. Frank H. Lamson-Scribner, and Mstr. Tec. Sgt. Albert S. Munsch, and the Navy Cross to 1st Lts. Vernon Guyman and Clarence J. Chappell, jr., and 2nd Lt. John D. Blanchard. Capt. Harold D. Campbell receives a special letter of commendation, as does Chief Marine Gunner Calvin Lloyd, and Pvt. Milton Friedman.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Sanderson was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, Navy, for his work as Supply Officer and Quartermaster, of the 2nd Brigade of Marines in Nicaragua, from January 16, 1928, to April 20, 1929. The citation describes the great difficulties overcome by Col. Sanderson in getting supplies to the widely scattered detachments operating against bandits. In spite of almost impassable trails, cut by treacherous streams, "the service of supply functioned satisfactorily."

Maj. Bourne was cited for making "an unguarded flight across the Gulf of Mexico in 13 hours and 45 minutes from Miami, Florida, to Managua, Nicaragua," and also for "extraordi- (Please turn to Page 777)

Adjutants General Gather in Washington

ROUND table discussions of problems of the National Guard featured the meeting of the Adjutants General's Association held April 14 and 15 in the Militia Bureau offices in Washington. While no conclusive policies were formulated the members expressed themselves as feeling very much benefited by the opportunity to get together and exchange ideas on the many problems which arise in carrying out the duties of adjutant general.

Probably the matter foremost in the minds of all was the bill, H. R. 10478, introduced by Representative Speaks, which provides for the creation of a "National Guard of the United States" and gives the guard a definite Federal status eliminating the present necessity of drafting into the Federal service the individual guardsmen in times of emergency. Under the proposed plan National Guard organizations would be placed in Federal service as units.

The following resolution was adopted on the subject:

"Resolved, That we, the Adjutants General of the United States, in convention assembled in Washington, D. C., this 15th day of April, 1930, unanimously indorse the provisions of H. R. 10478, which amends the National Defense Act by creating a Federal reserve component of the Army of the (Please turn to Page 777)

Five Naval Projects Planned For Action

FIVE major naval projects, held in abeyance since the beginning of the limitation negotiations last fall, are slated for early consideration following the scheduled adjournment next week of the London Conference. They are:

1. Construction of the 10,000-ton cruisers.

2. Modernization of three more battleships: the Mississippi, Idaho and New Mexico.

3. Construction of the new airplane carrier, already authorized.

4. Installation of new engines in the V-8 and V-9.

5. Award of contracts for 125 airplanes for the new cruisers.

Work of drafting the annual appropriation bill has been completed, the report is being prepared and it will be ready for submission within a week or ten days.

While official comment is withheld pending the actual signing of the agreement reached at the London Conference and the formal adjournment, it is understood that immediate steps will be taken to remove the ban against the laying of the keels of the cruisers on which work has been started and that Congress will act promptly in consideration of all these naval matters which have been side-tracked completely while the parley was on.

The consensus of opinion is that Senate ratification of the London Pact will be forthcoming, but it seems a certainty that it will be preceded by extended discussion with the possibility that final action will not be possible at this session.

No violent opposition to the treaty is being voiced by the pro-Navy group of Senators, a number of whom have declined to declare themselves until the terms are definitely known. It is an interesting commentary that in the face of the administration announcements heralding the "success" of the conference and the great savings affected, the only outspoken opposition comes from the pacifist group which attacks the high tonnage figures that make it necessary for this country to embark on a building program.

Right here lies the real danger to the national defense, close observers assert. If steps are taken by Congress to provide the new ships, a building program conforming to the provisions of the treaty launched and appropriations made available, the outcome of the conference will leave our relative naval strength unimpaired. In some quarters it is felt that the pacifist clamor is the opening gun in a drive against a construction program that (Please turn to Page 771)

Urges USMA Expansion

LACK of suitable ground for various military activities is materially affecting the instruction of cadets at the United States Military Academy at West Point, according to Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, who has introduced a bill (H. R. 8480) in the House of Representatives providing for the purchase of additional terrain. "Not only are the facilities for target practice, airplane landing field, and camps, either wholly lacking or inadequate, but the water supply is inefficient to provide for the needs of the post and is in grave danger of contamination," Mr. Fish stated.

In 1844, when the New Hampshire and Connecticut legislatures urged the abolition of West Point, and a State Military Convention held at Albany, New York, also attacked the Academy, Mr. Fish's grandfather, then a member of the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, came to the defense of the institution and (Please turn to Page 775)

Wide Range of Public Opinion Evidenced on Universal Draft Proposal

VERY little concurrence of opinion is evident in the comment of the leading newspapers on the subject of universal draft. Some of the papers are squarely behind the Snell Resolution "to equalize the burdens and minimize the profits gained in time of war" as it passed the House of Representatives. A number, however, take exception to the amendment which will limit the study and report of the commission to the drafting of capital and not of labor. A few editors favor the principle of universal draft, but fear for any practical solution of the many obstacles in the path of its adoption. Others oppose the conception directly on principle, as being inefficient or socialistic. One writer states that the real issue has been beclouded. That what fundamentally is needed is not to merely take the profiteering out of war, but to devise an efficient plan of mobilization in time of emergency.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES has just taken a step which entitles it to receive the gratitude of all thinking citizens," states the New York Herald-Tribune (Independent Republican). "The resolution in question was introduced about a month ago. It provided for a commission composed of four Senators, four Representatives, the Secretaries of War, Navy, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor, and five persons from private life. . . . The House eliminated the five members from private life and by a close vote adopted an amendment which would prevent the commission from studying or reporting on the conscription of labor in time of war. The vote on this amendment was 120 to 123—close enough to warrant the hope that it may be removed before the resolution is finally passed. There seems to be no good reason why labor should occupy a special position when the rest of the nation makes the maximum sacrifice."

THEORETICALLY, a universal draft law is alluring," says the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot (Democratic). "Practically, it raises formidable difficulties. . . . The right of the State to expropriate private property for public purposes—national defense is a public purpose—without incurring the obligation to indemnify the owners of the seized property is essentially a socialistic concept. . . . We strongly suspect that the American Federation of Labor has sized the situation up correctly—that our ruling national thought on property rights stamps the universal draft idea as visionary and unrealizable and that attempts to apply it may, by nationalizing civilian labor in time of national emergency, even make matters worse than they are now."

LABOR, as patriotic as any other American group, should not desire to be excepted from the sacrifice of all in the common defense of the country," asserts the Indianapolis Star (Independent). "Congress should also make provision for the prompt application of the universal draft in the event of war. The volunteer system is both unfair and inefficient, a fact recognized in almost every major conflict."

PROPOSAL to draft the nation's resources in time of war is fair and commendable," the Long Beach, Calif., Telegram (Republican) affirms. "Too long has capital and the material wealth of the country been exempt from service in time of armed hostility."

UNDER this resolution the commission would report a plan to the President not later than December, 1931," the Dayton, Ohio, Herald (Independent) informs us. "If it is the thought of taking profit that drives countries into war, as many believe, a profitless war would be a great deterrent. However that may be, a prepared America, determined to make every man and every dollar do the work of the nation in case of conflict, would give other nations room for thought."

Increased Public Support

parts that the Government ought to recognize in the pay of its officers the increased cost of living and do something to relieve their increasingly inadequate compensation.

I am writing this letter because I feel sure my opportunity to observe was intimate and close. The Articles of War and the necessity of the situation require officers to live and conduct themselves as officers and gentlemen. The regulations require officers to be court martialled and dismissed from the Army if they fail to pay their debts. Both of these regulations are necessary. Officers cannot respect themselves or secure the respect of the men they command if they are harassed by debt and humiliated by salaries which simply will not cover the necessities of a decent life no matter how thriftily and prudently used.

If you think my opinion on this subject would be useful to any of your associates, I would be glad to have them read this letter and if my appearance before your committee would be helpful, it would give me great pleasure to come. It has been nearly ten years since I have had an active contact with the Army. I have no interest in this subject except to place my opinion and the basis upon which it rests freely at the service of your committee.

Cordially yours,
NEWTON D. BAKER.

"NIGGARDLY ARMY PAY" is the subject of a signed editorial by Mr. Albert E. Hayes, in the Denver Post. It follows:

It is somewhat startling to learn that the average pay in the Regular Army of the United States has decreased by 3 per cent since 1908, but such is a fact revealed in the research of the Departmental Board at Washington. Even more startling is the fact that the pay in foreign armies has increased by 175 per cent, and here everyone imagined the foreign countries were broke. Beyond doubt the other nations are spending too much on military maintenance, but there ought to be a happy medium found somewhere between the top and the bottom. Our Regular Army is composed of 11,999 commissioned officers and 118,760 enlisted men, and surely that is meager enough for a nation of 122 million people and thousands of miles of coast lines. A second class private receives $21 and a first-class private $30 per month, rather slim sums for the maintenance of morale. A second lieutenant receives $143 a month, equal to about $93 in buying power compared with 1913. Lieutenants are college graduates, hard worked men, and have to pay for their own clothes. Our Regular Army is only a skeleton, but it is absolutely necessary as a nucleus in time of trouble. Surely Congress should support a resolution for increased pay that will be presented shortly.

Stockton, Calif.

RESOLUTION adopted by the Stockton, Calif., Chamber of Commerce, follows, in part:

Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Board of Directors of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce that the Congress of the United States be urged to enact such legislation as will provide equivalent justice for the compensation to the personnel, active and retired, of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service, and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, the Chairman of the Military and Naval Affairs Committee of the Senate and House, to our Congressional representatives from this district, and to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

H. K. GRIFFIN,
President.

Ft. Worth, Tex.

RESOLUTION adopted by the Fort Worth Chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association:

"AS A MATTER OF FACT property can be conscripted," says the Detroit Free Press (Independent Republican) "and those who advocate its conscription can point, as their warrant, to the action of the signers of the Declaration of Independence in pledging to the new nation they proclaimed 'our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor' . . . but in a national emergency, we never could see the logic of exempting property and not lives. Conscribing a man's bank account is no more socialistic than conscripting his person."

AT PRESENT, the Snell resolution, which now goes to the Senate, is in a condition which makes it worthless," states the Peoria Journal (Independent). "Manifestly, conscription would not be universal if labor was excluded. . . . There can be no conclusions worth talking about unless the inquiry is unlimited. Evidently the House is throwing a sop to the veterans and trying to please labor at the same time."

THERE has been altogether too much talk about the desirability of outlawing the war-time profiteer and of placing those who stay at home on a basis of economic parity with those who go to the front," declares the Kalamazoo, Mich., Gazette (Independent). "Yet such considerations as these important as they may seem, are in reality secondary to the real objective of a universal draft program. The objective is the promotion of national efficiency—the organization of all the country's resources in such a way as to insure a speedy and decisive military triumph. . . . What is needed is not anything so radical as a capital levy or a nationalization of industry, but a comprehensive plan for placing all of the nation's economic factors at the disposal of the Government whenever a serious national emergency may arise."

THE Grundy-Snell Resolution is a fraud on its face," maintains the Jefferson City, Mo., Capital News (Democratic). "A Resolution that proposes to 'equalize the burdens and minimize the profits of war,' but in reality will turn war making legislation over to a commission under the domination of the War Department."

THE CHICAGO Tribune (Independent) states: "We oppose the appointment of the commission because we oppose the report which the commission is almost certain to make. Wars should be fought by as few men as are needed; to 'mobilize all the resources of the country,' in the words of the resolution, would cause needless and endless confusion, interfering with the conduct of war both at the front and in the economic sphere. Universal mobilization can mean only one thing: a single executive direction for the nation's intricate economic machine as well as its military arms. There is no one in the United States today capable of carrying such stupendous executive responsibility. It is hard enough to find a competent general, though the Government takes exceptional young men and gives them a lifelong training for command in battle."

THE MACON, Ga., Telegraph (Democratic) declares: "The Government ought to declare in the event of another war, that every bolt, every nut, every machine in every industry in the country is conscripted for Government use and then allow a fair return on the invested capital and take the excess of profits for the prosecution of war and for the equitable distribution with men at the front. . . . Aside from the standpoint of fairness and the necessity for universal conscription, it is an ally of peace. How much interest would the shipbuilders of America have had in sending Big Bass Drum Shearer to wreck the Geneva Naval conference had they known that they would not have profited by what he did at the conference."

Whereas we are of the opinion that a serious problem exists in the Military Services with reference to the maintenance of a high standard of efficiency in the future, and

Whereas we believe that the low rate of pay, particularly in the junior grades, and generally, in all grades, is entirely out of proportion to the responsibilities demanded by the country of those concerned, and

Whereas an Interdepartmental Pay Board has submitted suitable recommendations for the alleviation of this undesirable situation by increasing the pay of the Services in a proportion approaching that which has taken place in other professions, and

Whereas a joint committee has been appointed for the investigation of the need for legislation with a view toward improving the pay situation,

Therefore, be it resolved, That this Chapter go on record and make known to all concerned that the recommendations contained in the Interdepartmental Pay Board Report are endorsed without qualification, in the belief that those recommendations are based on an exhaustive study in great detail and represents actual needs for the best interests of the maintenance of an adequate National Defense.

Knoxville, Tenn.

RESERVE Officers' Association of the United States, Knoxville, Tenn., Chapter, has adopted a resolution which follows, in part:

Be it Resolved, That the Knoxville Chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association go on record as favoring a substantial increase in pay for officers and enlisted men, both active and retired, of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Public Health, and Geodetic Survey, recommended by the Interdepartmental Board as an act of fairness and justice for their long record of faithful and efficient public service in all of their efforts in behalf of the American people, and that it urges its representatives in Congress to do all within their power to bring about immediate legislation giving increased compensation for the officers and enlisted men of the services named above.

Be it Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President, the Senate and House Military and Naval Committees, the senators and representatives from this State, and to the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C.

Vicksburg, Miss.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Chamber of Commerce resolution:

Whereas after a careful study by a body known as the Interdepartmental Pay Board duly appointed under the direction of the Secretaries of the Treasury, Army, Navy and Commerce, to consider a proposed Joint Service Pay Bill for the entire personnel of the military and naval forces of the United States has resulted in recommendations for the new pay tables designed to improve present conditions, and

Whereas the executive committee of the Vicksburg Chamber of Commerce of Vicksburg, Miss., consider the recommendations of the Interdepartmental Pay Board meritorious, equitable and just, and the enactment of said proposed measure by Congress will be a recognition of faithful services; that it will be the means of preventing a continued flow of resignations from the service; will draw into the service of the different departments of the military forces men of ability, and will be an added stimulus to the service throughout. Therefore, be it

Resolved by the executive committee of the Vicksburg Chamber of Commerce, That the recommendations of the aforesaid Interdepartmental Pay Board should promptly be made effective, and be it further

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States give due consideration to such recommendations, and be it further

Resolved, That we recommend that any increase in compensation granted the active list be made applicable to officers and men on the retired list, based upon the compensation of officers and men on the active list of like grade and rank, and, be it further

Redraft Navy Staff Bill

CHAIRMAN FRED BRITTEN of the House Naval Affairs Committee severely criticized Rear Adm. George Rock, CC, Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, for coming before the Naval Affairs Committee to testify on H. 10041, which is designed to adjust the working of the so-called Staff Equalization Act. The attack was vitriolic, sharply condemning Adm. Rock and the Construction Corps for originally opposing the "squaring-away board" and now appearing before the committee to back a bill to quicken promotion in the Construction Corps by the same expedient.

When the Chief Constructor offered to correct Mr. Britten's conception of the situation, telling him that he had come to the hearings by direction of the Secretary of the Navy, Chairman Britten stopped him, stating that he fully understood the matter and advised Adm. Rock that he should be seated and testify when called upon.

However, upon the suggestion of Representative Vinson, ranking Democrat on the Committee, Adm. Rock was asked to go ahead with his testimony.

The day following Adm. Rock's appearance, Capt. Woods, of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery was called to give the views of the Medical Corps on the measure. Upon the committee learning of that Corps' opposition to the bill, it was decided to send it back to the Navy Department, with instructions for the various staff corps to confer with the Bureau of Navigation in drafting a new bill which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

The meeting was then adjourned until Tuesday.

Gen. Castner Inspects

BRIG. GEN. J. C. CASTNER, accompanied by Maj. Maxon S. Lough, A. C. of Staff, G-3, is making his annual formal tactical inspection of units of the Third Division. Going by automobile, Gen. Ft. Benning (Special)—Col. Paul C. Galleher has been relieved from the command of the 24th Infantry and will sail from New York, May 7, for Los Angeles for duty in connection with recruiting. Col. Galleher has been in command of the 24th Infantry since July 1, 1928. He came to Ft. Benning in 1924 as a lieutenant colonel and executive officer of the 29th Infantry.

reported to the committee after an exhaustive investigation, that the Military Academy was a vital necessity to the Nation. Four years later, when the Mexican War broke out Mr. Fish's statements as to the value of West Point were proven correct by the gallant conduct and leadership of its graduates. Now his grandson is, in the present bill, advocating the same work—all directed at maintaining the Military Academy at its maximum efficiency.

In commenting on the bill, Mr. Fish said: "To the casual visitor, the Military Academy appears to be the last word in military efficiency, but the fact is that the present Cadet Corps has outgrown the restricted boundaries of the reservation and it is essential to the Cadets that adequate rifle and artillery ranges be provided immediately, and sufficient level ground be secured for a landing field for airplanes, and to provide for the future in case it becomes necessary to include aviation as a part of the course of instruction."

The additional land to be acquired, in accordance with the provisions of the bill introduced by Mr. Fish will afford ample space for camp sites and grounds to be used for military maneuvers. Owing to the steady growth of population from the city limits of New York, it has become increasingly difficult to secure proper temporary camp sites for the summer maneuvers. Unless action is taken at the present time there will be no temporary camp sites or maneuvering ground left for this important training.

Last summer the water supply at West Point became exhausted and emergency steps to secure a temporary supply for two months at considerable difficulty, became necessary. The present water supply is subject to contamination, as it is not controlled by the Government. The erection of summer bungalows and shacks, springing up on the edge of Popolopen Lake, which is the main water supply, presents a serious menace to the health of the 1200 cadets, 200 officers and 1200 enlisted men.

Representative Fish pointed out that the present buildings, and those being constructed at West Point could not be reproduced for less than forty millions of dollars, and that the value of the traditions and ideals connected with the history of West Point since the Revolution, even before it was a military academy and was the main quarters of Washington's Army for the control of the Hudson River, transcends any possible monetary consideration.

Mr. Fish stated that he hoped to secure a public hearing on his bill before the Committee on Military Affairs of the House of Representatives sometime soon, as he has been assured by Representative W. Frank James, chairman of the committee, who himself had made a deep study and many personal inspections, of his intention to push the project. Mr. Fish added that he believed that after the bill was whipped into proper shape, after the hearing, it would not have much opposition in either branch of Congress, as the American people are proud of the record of the Military Academy at West Point and desire to have it maintained at the highest possible efficiency. Mr. Fish claimed that if West Point was located in California, instead of 50 miles from New York City, that it would be so well advertised that it would attract several million people annually, including many from New York State who have never visited this national shrine, recognized as the foremost military academy in the world.

FA Films Preparing

PRODUCTION of the Field Artillery training film "Harness and Harnessing; Driving and Draft" is expected to begin soon. FA camps may be an added feature.

It is expected that 1st Lt. Eleazar Parmly, from the FA School, will be detailed to the Signal Corps Laboratory in Washington for a course in making training films, thereafter to act as liaison officer with the SC outfit shooting the picture at the FA School.

Other proposed FA films are:

Reconnaissance, Selection and Occupation of Position by Battery. Already filmed, but not yet edited for distribution. Care of Animals on the March and in the Field. Training of the Artillery Horse. Motorized Artillery on the March. Preparation of Fire. (Film in existence, but needs revision.) Observation of Fire. Service of the Piece and Occupation of Position by the 155-mm. gun and 240-mm. Howitzer. 75-mm. Gun (French) Recoil Mechanism.

men, the chaplains of the United States Army and Navy, by Rev. Peter Ainslie, of Baltimore, constitutes a most deplorable incident.

"Yet the very violence of the attack will serve to elevate in public esteem the clergymen who devote themselves to the spiritual needs of the military services of their country."

"Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, of the First Congregational Church, which President Coolidge attended, and in whose pulpit the address of Dr. Ainslie was delivered, is to be congratulated for his prompt repudiation of remarks so repugnant to the conscience of all right-thinking Americans."

"The chaplains of the Army and Navy are as much a part of those services as the fighting men."

"During the war they went to the battle front with the American boys. They ministered to the living, and buried the dead. Some of them had opportunity for the display of their splendid courage under fire."

"Dr. Ainslie owes an apology to the distinguished churchmen now serving their country in the Army and Navy. 'And he cannot make it too strong.'"

Dr. Pierce's letter follows:

"Dr. Peter Ainslie,
"230 North Fulton Avenue,
"Baltimore, Md.

"Dear Dr. Ainslie:

"I cherish such high admiration for you personally and for your noble efforts to promote the spirit of religious unity that it grieves me to be compelled to differ from you and to feel that I must publicly protest against statements made publicly by you this day from my own pulpit at a union service here at the Nation's Capital. Upon enquiry I learn that you have made these statements before. Therefore I write frankly."

"In my judgment you have insulted your Country, insulted the churches of the United States, and insulted en masse the chaplains of the Army and Navy. Was it because you were speaking in Washington, coincident with the meeting of the D. A. R., with the Chief of Chaplains of the U. S. Army in uniform in your audience, and speaking from the pulpit of a brother-minister, who served through the war, is now a reserve chaplain and is chairman of the General Committee on Army and Navy chaplains of the Federal Council of Churches that at a Union Lenten Service you forgot the usual courtesies and uttered statements which would have been bad enough if spoken from your own pulpit or at a public forum?"

"You stated that the World War was carried on by so-called Christian nations, that the responsibility for it therefore rested upon the Christian Church, and that CHURCHES AND NATIONS WERE INDIFFERENT AND UNCONCERNED WITH UNDERLYING QUESTIONS OF RIGHT OR WRONG BUT WERE CONCERNED SOLELY AND WHOLLY WITH WINNING THE WAR."

"That statement maligns the United States and our churches. We deplored the outbreak of the war, carefully weighed the questions of right and wrong, sought peaceable solution, and were drawn into the war only when we believed that the central powers were wrong, the allied powers right, and the very existence of democratic government was at stake. We did not want the war, did not start the war, were powerless to prevent the war; but once drawn in we prayed and fought for victory and peace."

"Your statement that so-called Christian nations fought each other quite ignores the questions of right, and implies that all warfare whether for offense, for defense or for protection of the weak, is alike wrong. You have no right to ignore underlying moral issues and to fail to distinguish between the will for peace which characterizes America and the will for war which has animated other parts of the world."

"You referred to Chaplains praying that their soldiers might shoot straight and kill all the enemy possible. My testimony as the Senior Chaplain of the Second Division A. E. F. is that I never made and never heard such a prayer. Chaplains cared for the wounded and dying both of friend and foe."

"I know a great number of Chaplains of the Army, Navy, National Guard, and Reserve Corps. For some years I was privileged to serve as president of their national organization in succession to the late Bishop Charles H. Brent. I do not know of one who does not hate war, who does not hope for the outlawry of war, who does not work and pray for peace."

"It is this body of men which you will supply the ships needed for the new "Treaty Navy."

While it is expected that the launching of such a building program will be deferred until the Senate has finally disposed of the new agreement, there is good reason to believe that the pending naval measures outlined above will be taken up without delay.

So far no intimations have been given in congressional circles as to the prospects of appropriations for the modernization of the last three battleships. The vital importance of this is recognized and the completion of this work is essential to round out the Battle Fleet into a homogeneous unit. Efforts will be made to have Congress dispose of this at this session so that there will be no further delay in completing the modernization program.

Appropriations for the new cruisers and for the carrier probably will be carried in the appropriation bill and it is hoped that funds will also be made available for the battleships and for the engineering of the two V-boats. No funds are required for the 125 airplanes which are virtually the wind-up of the five-year aviation program.

publicly insulted by the statement that there was NO MORE JUSTIFICATION FOR BEING A CHAPLAIN IN THE ARMY OR NAVY THAN IN BEING A CHAPLAIN IN A SPEAKEASY!

"The unavoidable inference from such a statement is that the personnel of Army and Navy are engaged in so irreligious an occupation as to put them without pale of spiritual ministrations."

"Chaplains minister to 129,000 officers and men of the U. S. Army, and to 90,000 officers and men of the U. S. Navy; minister to their wives and children; minister in their hospitals and prisons; treat them as children of God; honor them for wearing the uniform of their Country and protecting her interests at home and abroad. But you as a Christian minister benefitted by this protection known so little of their duties and of their spirit that you speak of their profession as of no more justification than chaplaincy of a speakeasy!"

"Until there is more insight, more sound judgment and more careful utterance among Americans we can not demand it of the people of other nations. And until we are able to trust the mind and heart of other nations we need both Army and Navy. It is and always has been an honor to wear the uniform of the United States. And I count it a high privilege to be a Chaplain."

Hear Col. Sarnoff

L. T. COL. DAVID SARNOFF, Sig. Res., president of the Radio Corporation of America, delivered a most interesting and instructive lecture to the students of the Army Industrial College on the morning of April 10. He described the past and present trend in radio development and suggested certain important factors involved in the effective utilization of the industry in a national emergency.

In addition to the faculty and student officers of the Army Industrial College, there were present chiefs of several supply branches and service officers serving under their command.

Other lectures during the week past were War Reserves, by Maj. Henry L. Rice, OD; Plant Surveys and Factory Plans, by Capt. T. R. Snyder, Ord. Res., Industrial Engineers Department, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, by Dr. E. Dana Durand; the Duties of a District Procurement Planning Officer, by Lt. Col. O. H. Sampson, QMC; Plans for Wool, Hides and Leather, by Capt. William H. Sadler, QMC; the Duties of a District Procurement Planning Officer, by Maj. Alfred J. Hobley, AC.

Dr. Anton de Haas, professor of international relations at the Harvard School of Business Administration, was an observer at the Industrial College this week.

The Industrial College schedule for the rest of April, as determined to date, follows:

April 14, conference, Publicity in War; April 17, conference, Foreign Industrial Control; April 21, conference, Strategic Raw Materials; conference, World War Load and Distribution of Load; conference, Foreign Strategic Industrial Areas—Mexico; April 22, conference, The Steel Industry and Plans for its Mobilization in War; conference, The Machine Tool Industry; conference, Legal Aspects of Procurements; moving pictures, Story of Ingot Steel, and Oxygen; April 23, conference, War Time Contract Forms; conference, Industrial Readjustment after the World War.

April 24, conference, Personnel and Training; conference, Exports, Imports and Munitions Possibilities of Principal Countries; conference, Progress Reports; April 25, conference, Secondary Requirements; conference, the Procurement District; conference, Survey of Facilities; April 26, conference, Factory Plans; conference, Transition of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of War from Peace to War; April 28, conference, Change in Design; April 29, moving picture, Heat Treatment of Steel.

Atlanta Show April 26

Ft. McPherson (Special).—Army entries and the presence of the 6th Cavalry from Ft. Oglethorpe, are to provide interesting and important features of the Horse Show scheduled for April 25-26, in Atlanta.

The 6th Cavalry arriving in Atlanta on April 23 by marching from Ft. Oglethorpe, under the command of Col. Evan H. Humphrey, will camp near the show grounds, and provide considerable color as well as entries and exhibitions for the event.

Ft. Benning is expected to send a show team composed of Maj. J. B. Thompson, Capt. R. A. McClure, Lts. J. R. Moon, O. C. Mood, Van Houten Hedekin and Mrs. Bolte, Brimer and Hedekin. Some 20 horses are expected to accompany this team.

Ft. McPherson participants will include Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, Maj. G. H. Franke, Lt. William S. Biddle and his mother, Mrs. Biddle, Capt. A. G. Wing, Mrs. Blink Drummond, daughter of Col. C. O. Thomas, and Mrs. John Dinsmore. The team has not yet been selected and other entrants are at present undetermined.

CE Units Reorganized

REORGANIZATION is being made upon the recommendation of the Chief of Engineers in order to strengthen by 216 men the 13th Engineers at Ft. Humphreys, and thus to provide more Engineer troops at the Engineer School.

In order to furnish the additional troops required for the 13th Engineers the commanding general, 2nd Corps Area, has been directed to render inactive one company of the 1st Engineers and to transfer certain designated personnel by rail from the 1st Engineers at Ft. Du Pont to Ft. Humphreys, for assignment to the 13th Engineers. The commanding general, 4th Corps Area, has been directed to take the necessary action to render inactive Company A, 7th Eng. (less one platoon), at Ft. Benning. This will leave one platoon of Company A for duty at the Infantry School. The commanding general, 7th Corps Area, has been directed to render inactive Troop A (mounted), 9th Squadron, Corps of Engineers (less one platoon), and to transfer certain designated personnel from Ft. Riley to Ft. Humphreys. This will leave one platoon of Engineer troops still on duty at the Cavalry School, Ft. Riley. In connection with the reorganization of the 8th Engineer combat battalion at Ft. McIntosh, as the 8th Squadron, Corps of Engineers, with one inactive troop, the commanding general, 8th Corps Area, has been directed to transfer certain excess personnel from Ft. McIntosh to Ft. Humphreys, for assignment to the 13th Engineers. The commanding officer, Ft. Humphreys, has been directed to organize the 2nd Battalion, 13th Eng., and have it assume an active status on the date on which the initial detachment of enlisted men being transferred from other organizations reports at Ft. Humphreys. This reorganization, when completed, will provide the 13th Engineers with an enlisted strength of 710.

With the recent completion of the new company barracks at Ft. Humphreys pertaining to the 13th Engineers, the entire regimental unit construction was finished, and the newly organized battalion will be suitably accommodated in these new barracks.

Discontinuance of the Infantry Unit of the Senior Division, ROTC, in Emory University.

FA Training Films

IN order to enhance instruction at the Field Artillery School, throughout the regular service, and particularly for the civilian components of the Field Artillery, training films are becoming highly important.

Considerable progress has been made on the preparation of the training films: "Harness and Harnessing; Driving and Draft." A 17-page scenario has been prepared at the Field Artillery School and after being revised as a result of criticisms from the Field Artillery Board at Fort Bragg and from the Signal Corps, it is approximately in shape for producing. It may also cover the subject of making Field Artillery camps.

An officer of the Field Artillery School, 1st Lt. E. Parmly, will probably be sent to the Signal Corps Laboratory in Washington for a special course of instruction in making training films.

In addition to the film "Harness and Harnessing; Driving and Draft," it is proposed to make the following films: Reconnaissance, Selection and Occupation of Position by Battery. This subject has already been filmed, but not yet properly edited for distribution.

Care of Animals on the March and in the Field.

Training of the Artillery Horse.

Motorized Artillery on the March.

Preparation of Fire. This film, in the form of animated diagrams is in existence, but needs revision.

Observation of Fire.

Service of the Piece and Occupation of Position by the 155-mm gun and 240-mm howitzer.

75-mm gun (French) Recoil Mechanism. These are already filmed in the form of animated diagrams covering many of the principal elements of this materiel.

Mimic War on Nueces

Ft. Sam Houston (Special).—Under the direction of Maj. Gen. William Lasater, commanding the 8th Corps Area, maneuvers simulating the operations of war will be held in southeastern Texas, May 7 to 17. The theater of active operations will be in the Nueces River valley, between the San Antonio-Laredo and the San Antonio-Corpus Christi highways.

The blue forces under command of Brig. Gen. Halstead Dorey, will consist of troops of the 2nd Division at San Antonio, a platoon of armored cars from El Paso, 12 attack planes from Galveston and a company of Engineers from Laredo.

The whites, under command of Brig. Gen. Hamilton S. Hawkins, will consist of a brigade of Cavalry, composed of troops from Fts. Clark, Ringgold and Brown, reinforced by a battalion of Field Artillery from San Antonio, a platoon of armored cars from El Paso, six observation planes from Kelly Field, 12 attack planes from Galveston and a company of engineers from Laredo.

Musical at West Point

West Point (Special).—With the entire program composed of music written by Lt. Philip Egner, teacher of music at the Military Academy, a musicale was given in Cullum Hall on April 13 for the cadets and officers of the post. In addition to vocal numbers rendered by officers and cadets, the Military Academy band played various compositions of Lt. Egner.

The principal feature of the afternoon was songs from 100th Night shows for the past 15 years. Officers now stationed here sang the numbers in which they appeared while cadets.

These 100th Night shows are given annually and celebrate the arrival of the 100th day before graduation. For the past 20 years Lt. Egner has written all the music for them.

Army Notes

New York (Special).—Maj. Gen. John L. De Witt, The QMG, outlined to 50 Regular Army officers on April 15 in the Pennsylvania Hotel plans which have been developed by the Army for handling the Gold Star mothers and widows pilgrimage to European war cemeteries.

Col. Alexander E. Williams, QMC, has been named to head all activities of the Gold Star mothers' pilgrimage through New York City with a newly-opened office at 225 West 34th street. A complete staff of selected officers will be on duty there.

The Chief of Infantry, Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, left Washington on April 15, to visit units of the 22nd Infantry stationed at Fts. McPherson, McClellan and Oglethorpe, near Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Gen. Fuqua will return to Washington April 20.

Battery B, 13th CA, bowling team, has cleaned up on all opponents at Ft. Barrancas and is challenging Pensacola in general.

Ft. Barrancas (Special).—Mstr. Sgt. William F. Cooper, Hq. Bty., 13th CA, has retired after 30 years' service.

He first enlisted in the 15th Company, CAC, March 14, 1900. His entire service has been with the Coast Artillery, he having completed nine enlistments as a non-commissioned staff officer of Coast Artillery, each discharge certificate bearing excellent character. Sgt. Cooper has not lost one single day in an unauthorized way, nor has there been any elapsed time between enlistment periods.

Ft. Hayes (Special).—Maj. Edward C. Hanford, FA (DOL), is announced as 5th Corps Area CMTC officer, vice Col. Francis W. Glover, Cav. (DOL), transferred.

Capt. Blanche S. Rulon, ANC, has been placed on detached service and is now on duty in Paris with the Chief of American Graves Registration Service. She is the only member of the Army Nurse Corps detailed to duty in connection with the War Mothers' pilgrimage.

AUTO TAG TRANSFER ONE OF PETTY EXPENSES THAT DRAIN

WHILE the report of the Bureau of Efficiency took into account a number of so-called "benefits" which it considered accrue to members of the armed services (and assigned a monetary value to them) it failed to take into account the many little things which constitute a drain on the service men's purse. Those incidental expenses are never thought of by civilians and occur to no other class in the way they do to the services.

For example, an officer in Rhode Island registers his automobile in that state at a cost of $18 at the beginning of 1930. Then the officer is ordered to foreign service to leave the United States Feb. 26—one month and 26 days after registration. The officer returned the car tags and registration card to the state government with a request for a refund (making no request for cancellation in case a refund was made). In reply the officer is informed by the State Board of Public Roads Motor Vehicle Department, "We have this date cancelled your registration and wish to advise that the Rhode Island law provides for no rebate on registration."

Upon his arrival in his new station, Panama, the officer is not permitted to take his car off the dock under the Rhode Island registration and must pay a cost of $11 there.

In what other professional calling would a man be subjected to a multitude of unusual and unexpected expenses of which the above is merely an example?

HOSTILITY DISPLAYED ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

THE HOSTILITY with which some members of Congress regard the Regular Army and Navy was illustrated in the House last Friday. Only one out of some nine or ten bills affecting service personnel on the calendar that day was not blocked for one reason or another. Another bill which gave discharged soldiers, sailors and marines a preferred right of homestead entry was amended on the floor to make it only applicable to veterans of wars.

As reported, the resolution, H. J. Res. 181, gave a preferred right of entry to veterans of "any war, military occupation, or military expedition." Upon the objection of Representative Collins, Democrat, of Mississippi, the privilege was restricted to veterans of "any war," and a proviso extending the right of entry to participants of the Philippine Insurrection was also cut out.

Representative LaGuardia took a verbal sock at the Army, saying: "Let me suggest to the gentleman from Mississippi that he is not going to find a soldier in the Regular Army who is desirous of taking the benefit of this. This means real work."

JAHNCKE SUBMITS REPORT ON CLEARY BILL

UNQUALIFIED backing to the principle of promotion by selection board is contained in Acting Secretary Jahncke's report on H. R. 10775, providing for the promotion of Comdr. F. J. Cleary, submitted to the House Committee on Naval Affairs last week. No objection to the enactment of the bill is made by the Navy Department, provided that it be amended so that in case Comdr. Cleary is chosen by a selection board, which will base its consideration for his fitness for engineering duty only, and not on his comparative fitness, he will follow the junior captain, and not the captain who preceded him when in the grade of commander.

In view of the reports submitted this year on the original bills for the promotion of Comdr. Cleary and of Capt. Gherardi, the unqualified stand is significant. The first Cleary bill, H. R. 6957, which would have promoted Comdr. Cleary without the necessity of being chosen by a selection board, was opposed by Secretary Jahncke, but in his report he stated that a presidential veto would not be asked in case the bill was passed by Congress. In the Gherardi case Mr. Jahncke favored the measure promoting Capt. Gherardi by legislation and recommended against the enactment of the later bill, which is similar to H. R. 10775, making it necessary for him to be selected for promotion.

Both the Cleary and Gherardi bills and also the Parsons bill are still awaiting action by the Naval Affairs Committee.

NAVY SETS RECORD FOR SAFE FLYING

DURING the first six months of the present fiscal year, the Navy flew approximately 21,510 hours per fatal accident and approximately 14,340 hours per fatality, the Bureau of Aeronautics announced recently. It is believed that this is the best record ever made by any military organization. There is a chance that it might be bettered during the closing six months of the year if all possible efforts are made by the operating personnel.

The fatalities during this period were one commissioned naval aviator, one Brazilian officer, one Marine naval aviator, one Marine office passenger, one Marine mechanic, one Marine Reserve officer, one Marine Reserve sergeant, and one chief aviation pilot.

Whereas the fatality rate has improved tremendously, the ratio of hours per crash still remains low. Last year the ratio was 708 hours per crash, whereas so far this year the ratio is about 600 hours.

PROPOSE MAJOR GENERALSHIP FOR BRIG. GEN. RETHERS

A BILL PROMOTING Brig. Gen. Harry Rethers to be a major general on the retired list, was introduced in the Senate April 16 by Senator Shortridge of California. Gen. Rethers was retired on April 15, being succeeded as Assistant Quartermaster General by Brig. Gen. Henry C. Whitehead.

NAVY TO CONSERVE HISTORICAL SOURCE MATERIAL

ONE FLOOR of the new Navy Building when erected will be set aside as a Naval Museum, it was announced this week, and to this end all Navy and Marine activities have been directed to make a thorough search for relics of naval history and send a list of such material to the Department.

All worth-while relics, flags, models, copies of correspondence, memorials and tokens, which will depict the history of the American Navy and Marine Corps will be placed in this museum for preservation. In the grounds surrounding the new building will be located historical monuments, guns, anchors and other larger objects which are illustrative of the services and of their history.

"Tecumseh," however, and other traditional landmarks at the Naval Academy are not subject to the order, as the Academy is the one naval activity which will not be combed in the compilation of relics for the new museum.

COL. HOOVER, PRESIDENT'S BROTHER, STUDIES ORDNANCE

THEODORE J. HOOVER, dean of the School of Engineering, Stanford University, who is also a lieutenant colonel in the Ordnance Reserve, has been quietly performing a tour of inactive duty during his visit with his brother, President Hoover, at the White House. Because of the many social activities which his stay at the Executive Mansion necessitates, Col. Hoover was not able to tie himself down to the program he would have to follow if he took a tour of active duty.

Col. Hoover has been able, however, to give a few hours each day to duty in the office of the Chief of Ordnance, where most of his work has been performed in the office rooms vacated by Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams when he retired as Chief of Ordnance. He has been devoting himself to the study of war plans and the industrial mobilization problems.

JOINT PAY COMMITTEE HITS ANOTHER SNAG

THE meeting of the Joint Congressional Committee on Service Pay which had been planned for this week failed to materialize, and hopes of more speedy action became dimmed because of the necessity of expediting the Naval Appropriation Bill. Representative French, vice chairman of the committee, who is also chairman of the subcommittee on Naval Appropriations, has been sedulously at work on the navy supply bill which now may be completed because of the London agreement.

Individual members of the committee say that though it will probably be impossible to get together in the next week or ten days, they are studying the voluminous data supplied by their departments. They feel that the subject is such a complex one that a great deal of individual investigation is necessary before entering into a general discussion.

ASSISTANT SECRETARYSHIP OF WAR STILL OPEN

THE post of Assistant Secretary of War, vacant since the selection of Col. Patrick J. Hurley to be Secretary still remains open with no intimation as to who will be appointed. It is more than three months since the office was vacated and while many names have been mentioned in connection with the selection there seems to be no hurry to fill it. The efficient organization of the office, however, has kept the work running smoothly and without interruption. Since the illness of Secretary Hurley, however, Assistant Secretary for Air Davison has had to administer the affairs of the entire department.

A name that is mentioned quite frequently and with much approval in connection with the office is that of Col. Walter G. Cole, Spec.-Res., president of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States. His long business experience and his deep knowledge of industry as well as military affairs is seen as admirably fitting him for the important position.

"NOT NECESSARY," SAYS JAHNCKE

LEGISLATION extending to officers of the Marine Corps on the retired list, the right to accept appointment in the diplomatic or consular service of the United States, is unnecessary, Acting Secretary Jahncke, informed the Naval Affairs Committee this week.

The act of March 2, 1929, which excepted retired officers of the Navy from the provisions of law which consider an officer of the Navy who accepts appointment in the foreign service to have resigned his commission in the Navy, also applies to retired officers of the Marine Corps, Mr. Jahncke states. As the original act was held to apply to officers of the Marine Corps, while not mentioning them, the amendment would also include officers of the Marine Corps within the meaning of the term, "officer of the Navy," he affirms.

SENATOR BROOKHART HOLDS UP MC PERSONNEL BILL AGAIN

SENATOR BROOKHART again objected to consideration of the Marine Corps personnel bill when its number on the calendar was reached last Monday, and the measure was passed over. The Senator from Iowa asked that the bill go over when it came up before, two weeks ago, stating that he was opposed to many features of the selection board system which the bill would set up and that he wanted to study the provisions of the Marine Corps bill.

Garde D'Haiti Report

STEADY growth and improvement is evident in the condition of the Garde D'Haiti, as revealed in the annual report of the commandant, Col. Frank E. Evans, USMC, recently released.

Forty per cent of the officers of the Garde are now Haitians the report shows. In the company grades, there are 71 native officers, a percentage of 46.2, showing a decided change from 1917, when there were but 5 per cent. A change in the Gendarmerie Agreement is recommended by the commandant, allowing the faster promotion of Haitian officers, as it is not believed advisable to reduce the number of commissioned or non-commissioned officers of the Marine Corps now serving with the Garde to allow the faster promotion of Haitians.

The conduct of the Garde during the disorders a few months ago is praised by Col. Evans. "These disorders proved an acid test to which all officers and men responded with superb esprit," he states. "It is exceptionally gratifying to record that all of the Haitian officers, without exception, gave patriotic and intelligent service of a fine order."

Leave of Absence Policy

A STATEMENT of policy concerning leave of absence has been issued by the Bureau of Navigation. Numerous inquiries about leave, the method of computation, and conditions surrounding its granting, indicate that there is a lack of information regarding this subject, the Bureau states, and therefore they have set forth in detail their policy concerning leave.

"Although the Bureau believes," its announcement states, "that officers should take leave so as to benefit by mental and physical relaxation and recreation, it must be thoroughly understood that it is a privilege and not a right. Leave of absence is not an allowance. It is competent for the Secretary of the Navy to deny any or all leave. Laws under which leave of absence are regulated are not authority to grant leave, but impose restrictions with regard to pay when in the leave status."

"The leave year extends from July 1 to the following June 30, both inclusive. Thirty days for each year is credited on July 1, and any leave that has accumulated is carried over to the next leave year, but the amount so accumulated is not carried in amounts exceeding four months. Leave of absence, therefore, accumulates at the rate of thirty days per year, up to a maximum of four months."

"The Bureau endeavors to grant two months leave of absence, provided that much has accrued, to officers in advance of retirement. In case of resignation, the same principle is applied, the date upon which the resignation is effective being the last day of the leave given."

"The Bureau also endeavors to grant one month's delay in reporting, such delay to count as leave, to officers on change of station from sea to shore. Officers desiring such leave should, however, submit appropriate request."

"The number of officers at present on the Navy list makes it impracticable to grant more than two months leave in any one year, irrespective of the amount accrued. Should the personnel situation ease up, it might be possible, at times, to increase the amount of leave granted at any one time."

"Officers on leave are entitled to full pay and allowances, up to the date of expiration of their accumulated leave. If leave beyond that amount is taken, such officers are automatically placed in the half-pay status for the period in excess of the accumulated leave, and are denied rental and subsistence allowance. This is a general ruling, but in cases in which leave in excess of the amount accumulated is taken, the matter is considered separately by the Comptroller General."

"Retired officers, recalled to active duty, are not entitled to any accumulative leave that might have accrued at the time of their retirement. Likewise, an officer entering the Navy from the Naval Reserve is not entitled to any leave that he might have accumulated while in the Reserve."

USNA '20 Reunion

THE "Tenth Re-union" of the Class of 1920, Naval Academy, will be held Friday, May 16, at the Hotel Astor, New York City. In last week's issue of the Army and Navy Journal it was stated that this class graduated June 6, 1920. The class of 1920, which is having its re-union on Friday, May 16, graduated June 6, 1919—the four-year course of the Naval Academy being cut down to three years on account of the World War.

Pay Quiz Holds Up Bill

OBJECTION to the consideration of the Naval Academy band bill was made by Representative Cramton in the House on April 11, and the measure was passed over. The bill does away with the provisions of existing law which prescribe the number of musicians of each class in the band, and by allowing the Navy Department to make assignments would result in higher ranking for the members of the band.

As the bill would give higher pay to the bandsmen, Mr. Cramton opposed it. He said: "As far as I am concerned, while the pay committee is at work I am not going to permit any legislation to pass which either directly or indirectly changes the pay of the members of the Army and Navy establishments."

Not content with one objection, Representative Cramton went on to say: "But I have another objection for the gentlemen to shoot at. If the President is going to succeed in his effort to keep down expenditures, the budget system must amount to something. I imagine there are a dozen bills on this Consent Calendar coming from the Committee on Naval Affairs, of which not more than one or two are recommended to Congress by the Department."

"I have not taken a complete census," continued Cramton, "but inasmuch as I ran onto four or five, one after another, none of them recommended by the Budget, I concluded that the Committee on Naval Affairs has no sympathy with the Budget system."

In answer to this, Representative Vinson, ranking Democrat on the Committee, who was handling the bill, replied: "The members of the Committee on Naval Affairs believe they know as much about these bills as the Budget."

"I will not dispute that," stated Mr. Cramton, "but I will say the Budget must have some weight if we are to have Federal economy. I object."

Blocks Death Gratuity Bill

REPRESENTATIVE LA GUARDIA blocked consideration of H. R. 7639, which would allow the Secretary of the Navy to determine the fact of dependency in connection with the payment of six months' death gratuity to dependent relatives of members of the naval service.

The bill was referred back to the committee on Naval Affairs on a point of order, the Speaker ruling that it was not in proper form. Mr. LaGuardia's objection was not confined to the form of the measure, however, he stating that he thought the Comptroller General could just as well continue to determine the fact of dependency as to give it over to the Navy Department.

Bring in a bill describing exactly who the dependent may be, in the judgment of your committee, Representative LaGuardia advised members of the Naval Affairs Committee, and when it becomes a matter of discretion, he went on, leave it with the Comptroller General.

Ships' Standing

STANDING of the highest of the following classes of vessels in the United States Navy in Engineering for the period indicated below:

Minesweeper Class—For the year to February 1, 1930: (1) Heron, (2) Bagaduck, (3) Penguin, (4) Pelican, (5) Cormorant, (6) Sandpiper, (7) Whippoorwill, (8) Robin, (9) Sciota, (10) Lark.

Light Cruiser Class—For the year to March 1, 1930: (1) Omaha, (2) Memphis, (3) Marblehead, (4) Milwaukee, (5) Concord, (6) Richmond, (7) Raleigh, (8) Cincinnati, (9) Trenton, (10) Detroit.

Cruiser Class—For the year to March 1, 1930: (1) Langley, (2) Denver, (3) Galveston, (4) Rochester, (5) Pittsburgh.

Tender Class—For the year to March 1, 1930: (1) Bridge, (2) Dobbin, (3) Vestal, (4) Melville, (5) Altair, (6) Artic, (7) Procyon, (8) Canopus, (9) Bushnell, (10) Holland.

Naval Reserve Notes

THE Naval Reserve Inspection Board will conduct an inspection of naval reserve units in the following cities: Detroit, Mich., April 22; Duluth, Minn., April 23; Great Lakes, Ill., April 23; Minneapolis, Minn., April 24-25; St. Paul, Minn., April 25; Tacoma, Wash., April 28; Sand Point, Wash., April 28; Seattle, Wash., April 29; Bremerton, Wash., April 30; Aberdeen, Wash., May 1; Oakland, Calif., May 1; Long Beach, Calif., May 2; Portland, Oreg., May 2; Kansas City, Mo., May 6; St. Louis, Mo., May 7.

The board that will make this trip will be composed of Capt. C. A. Blakeley, USN; Comdr. C. C. Slayton, USN; and Lt. W. M. Dillon, USN, from the Navy Department.

Capt. D. W. Bagley, USN, attached to the Headquarters, Ninth Naval District, will aid in the inspections at Duluth, Minn., St. Paul, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Lt. E. A. Foote, USN, attached to Headquarters, Thirteenth Naval District, will aid in the inspections at Tacoma, Sand Point, Seattle, Bremerton, Aberdeen and Portland.

Aviation material and operating inspections will be held at Detroit, Great Lakes, Minneapolis, Sand Point, Oakland, and Long Beach.

The new Armory, built by the State of Illinois, has been completed and is being occupied. It will be jointly used by the Illinois State Militia and the Fifth and Sixth Battalions of the U. S. Naval Reserve of the Ninth Naval District. This Armory, which was built at an expense of over $350,000, is one of the most modern and up-to-date edifices of its kind in the country. The building includes a swimming tank, shooting gallery, large mess hall, Division Headquarters and quarters for the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other Naval Reserve units and also of the Illinois State Militia. The Armory has an excellent location on the inner basin making it convenient for embarkation on cruising vessels as well as drills under oars. It is also conveniently located near the railroad stations and business district of Chicago.

In taking over their new quarters the Chicago Reserve vacated the U. S. S. Commodore which has long served these units as an armory. It has been embedded high and dry on the beach close to the present armory. This seventy-five year old wooden hulk has been offered for sale by the Navy. It will probably be removed as soon as its present location interferes with Chicago's park system.

Objects to Lease Bill

CONSIDERATION of H. R. 6412, which would authorize the Secretary of the Navy to lease the destroyer and submarine base at Squantum, Mass., for a period of 25 years, was blocked in the House last Friday by Representatives LaGuardia and Collins.

Mr. LaGuardia objected to the leasing of the land on what he predicted would be inadequate terms, while Representative Collins was opposed to so long a lease, on the ground that if it became necessary to revoke it, greater damages would be allowed the lessee than if the rental term was limited to five year periods, as prescribed by existing law.

Oppose Branch Office

THE Navy Department is opposed to the establishment of a branch hydrographic office at Gray's Harbor, Washington, Acting Secretary Jahncke informed the House Naval Affairs Committee last week.

Two of the 19 branch hydrographic offices are in the Northwest, Mr. Jahncke states, at Seattle and Portland, and these meet the requirements at the present time, considering the limited appropriations for this service. Other ports at which there is no branch office and which would take preference owing to a larger volume of shipping are Portland, Me., at which there is an office authorized, and Mobile, Alabama.

Urges USMA Expansion

manding the 37th Division, Ohio NG, was the first to testify regarding the bill. He declared that the basis of the current bill was in the Constitutional provisions for the raising of armies, instead of the militia clause, as all previous National Guard bills had been. He said that the loss of States' rights had been feared by the association at the first reporting of the resolutions several years ago, although their legality and constitutionality was recognized; but that subsequent modifications of the proposals had done away with such misapprehensions. The National Guard, he testified, is now the organized militia. While referred to as part of the Army of the United States, it is not so in fact, but its officers and men must be individually drafted without regard for membership or rank in organizations. The National Guard of the United States would be a reserve, not interfering with State functions. It would be ordered into Federal service only in the event of a "national emergency declared by the President." The National Guard of the States would still be organized under the militia clause of the Constitution. Their Federally recognized members would constitute the National Guard of the United States. Control would continue to be vested in the States as at present, except in time of war. Even in such time, the NG would be ordered into service without change in administration.

In short, Gen. Hough explained, the National Guard would undergo no change in its present obligations either to State or nation, but would be made ready in advance for its Federal service.

"The dual status must not, will not, and cannot be changed."

The changes in the National Defense Act effected by the bill are the elimination of the provisions for drafting the National Guard contained in Section 211, and substitution of a reserve Federal force and transfer to active duty in emergency; amending the oath; a new section defining and explaining the National Guard of the United States.

Replying to questions, Gen. Hough said that under the proposed bill the National Guardsman would, in emergency time, automatically "draft himself."

Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, AG, Md. NG, was next called by Gen. Foote. He stated that the National Guard was not a part of the Army of the United States in peace-time notwithstanding Federal support of its training.

The changes in Section 111 of the National Defense Act are the meat of the bill, Gen. Reckord said. The National Guard wants to be a factor in national defense at all times, peace and war, but also wants to serve the States. A new reserve, under the Army rather than the militia clause of the Constitution, and the new oaths, embodying the words "National Guard of the United States," are the "big idea" of this bill. Other features of the bill are merely secondary.

NG ranks, upon order into Federal service, would not be changed an iota, Gen. Reckord said in answer to a committee member.

The officers of the National Guard must now be commissioned in the third component of the Army of the United States, though members of the second component, another member was told.

Physical examinations would still be required upon order into Federal service; but the officer's capacity would not be re-investigated on that occasion, as in the World War, when delay, alluded to by committee members as "disgraceful," was encountered in getting the National Guard into Federal service, and when, according to Gen. Reckord's observation, injustices were numerous.

This bill, Gen. Reckord concluded, threatens neither States' rights nor the esteem in which the National Guard is held as a State force.

Col. Edward A. Harriman, Fin. Res., former treasurer of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, and now chairman of its legislative committee, explained that his organizational tenor and particularly because its tion favored this bill because of its gen-provides the same mileage for the Organized Reserves going to and from active duty as for the Regular Army, and because appropriations for NG officers on staff duty under the bill would not be charged to the Organized Reserve but to the National Guard.

Col. Harry Chase, QMC, Mass. NG, and Brig. Gen. James W. Hanson, AG,

Damages Upheld

IN THE CASE of Mrs. Stella Adams Smith, administratrix of the late Kenneth M. Smith, chief pharmacist, USN, against a restaurant in this city, the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia last Monday affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court of the District in favor of the widow upon a verdict of a jury in the sum of $10,000. This is the end of a long and tenaciously contested action brought against the respondents for damages for the death of Mr. Smith on April 29, 1926, brought about by the service to this officer of oysters which were not fit for human consumption. The jury in the Supreme Court found the facts in accordance with the plaintiff's declaration and awarded the widow the maximum amount allowable under the laws of the District. Many motions made by the defendants with the purpose of taking the case from the jury were all overruled, but the trial court and the Court of Appeals sustained the lower court in all questions of law and pointed out the correctness of the jury's verdict in view of the convincing character of the testimony. Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, who represented the widow throughout the litigation, relied upon the testimony of Chief Carpenter Ellis B. Berkstresser and of Comdr. Montgomery A. Stewart, MC, USN, an expert in food preservation. The opinion of the Court of Appeals made extensive quotations from the testimony from these two witnesses to show the correctness of the jury's verdict.

Pay Suit Won

LAST Wednesday in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia a final decree of injunction was signed against the defendants in the case brought by Lt. Comdr. Byron B. Ralston, USN, against the Comptroller General and the Secretary of the Navy directing the payment to the plaintiff of $593.73, salary unlawfully withheld from him. The bill of complaint was brought because of a stoppage of this officer's pay to reimburse the Government for an alleged overpayment of salary, the Comptroller General and the Department having held that the salary of this officer, who was placed upon the retired list by a special act of Congress approved May 14, 1928, should begin not from the date of the Act, but from the date of his taking of the oath of office.

Film "Robot" AA Guns

Aberdeen Proving Ground (Special).—On April 16, 600 Coast Artillerymen, under Maj. C. M. Thiele, CAC, began the filming of the use of the "robot" type of antiaircraft guns. When completed the picture will be suitable for civilian audiences as well as for Army training purposes.

From the first attempts to defend Paris against enemy air raids during the World War, to the present day when the "robot" guns and highly developed fire-control methods give the airman new difficulties in combat, the picture will portray the development of antiaircraft artillery.

National Guard units, Organized Reserves, ROTC, CMTC, and interested civilian organizations will be authorized to secure copies of the picture when it is completed.

Me., were briefly heard, and Brig. Gen. Ellard E. Walsh, AG, Minn., announced that he spoke for the bill in behalf of both the Adjutants General's Association and the Governor of Minnesota. Gen. Walsh, predecessor of Gen. Foote as president of the National Guard Association, testified that many eminent military and legal authorities had passed on the association's resolutions before their embodiment in the Speaks bill.

Brig. Gen. Vivian B. Collins, AG, Fla., said that he represented a State unsurpassed in its jealous guarding of State's rights, but that the Governor approved this bill.

A communication was read from the War Department announcing its inability to prepare an opinion on this bill in time for the hearing. Mr. McSwain suggested that Brig. Gen. John McCaulley Palmer, Ret., who was influential in the drafting of the National Defense Act of 1916, be invited to express an opinion of this bill. Acting Chairman Ransley acceded to the idea, stating that other authoritative persons might likewise be invited.

No date was set for the continued hearing.

Small-bubble lather makes shaves last longer

Your razor works closer and smoother
... as a trial will prove.

WHEN you finish a Colgate shave, rub your fingers over your face—note that you have a closer shave than with ordinary lather—it's a shave that is bound to last longer.

The reason is plain. There's a vast difference between this new Colgate small-bubble lather and the old-fashioned large-bubble lather. A marked difference in moistening power. Just study the diagrams in this advertisement. If you still doubt, you can prove this to your own satisfaction by sending for a trial tube of Colgate's.

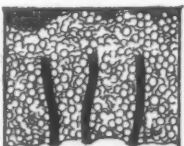

The minute you lather up with Colgate's two things happen: 1—The soap in the lather breaks up the oil film that covers each hair. 2—Billions of tiny, moisture-laden bubbles seep down through your beard... crowd around each whisker... soak it soft with water.

Instantly your beard gets moist and pliable... limp and lifeless... scientifically softened right down at the base... ready for your razor.

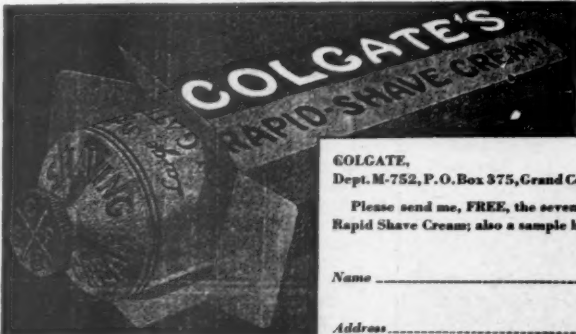

Thousands of men, after various trials with ordinary lathers, have adopted Colgate's as supreme. To prove its superiority, mail the coupon below. We will send also, a sample of After-Shave, a new lotion—refreshing, delightful... the perfect shave finale.

ORDINARY LATHER
Ordinary, big-bubble lather (greatly magnified). Note air-filled bubbles which can't soften the beard efficiently. Only water can do the job. Only small bubbles permit sufficient water.

COLGATE LATHER
Colgate's lather (greatly magnified) showing moisture contact with beard and minimum air. A common-sense principle scientifically authenticated and proved out practically by millions of men.

COLGATE,
Dept. M-752, P. O. Box 375, Grand Central Post Office, New York

Please send me, FREE, the seven-day trial tube of Colgate's Rapid Shave Cream; also a sample bottle of "After-Shave."

Motor School at Pontiac

Pontiac, Mich. (Special).—If the ancient, but sage observation that "an army moves on its stomach" was true, that military maxim should now be changed to read, "an army moves on its trucks." Not only foodstuffs, but all other munitions and supplies, as well as the men themselves, are made mobile in time of war by the motor transport, the importance of which is emphasized by the school of truck maintenance now in progress here for twenty motor transport officers of the United States Army O. R. C.

Every phase of motor truck efficiency and dependability is being carefully taught and demonstrated in the service school, which is under the direct supervision of Capt. O. M. Brede, Spec. Res., who is director of service for General Motors Truck Company. The company's two plants here are being used as laboratories for the service men and every resource of the company is utilized to make the course of instruction complete and thorough.

In attendance are Capt. John R. Bailey, QMC, USA, and the following officers of the Organized Reserves:

Capt. Oscar McKinley Brede, Birmingham, Mich.

Capt. Wallace R. Montague, La-Crosse, Wisc.

Capt. Soren Nelson, Jr., Detroit, Mich.

Capt. Ray Melvin Young, Chicago.

First Lt. Samuel Ader, Chicago.

First Lt. William Herbert Andrews, Chicago.

First Lt. Leo F. Kelly, Kalamazoo, Mich.

First Lt. Josiah Leon Miller, Detroit.

First Lt. Joseph Peter Plain, Oconto Falls, Wisc.

First Lt. Dreyfus O. Rouse, Chicago.

First Lt. George Fred Stretch, Shelbyville, Ill.

First Lt. Ethan B. Cudney, Pontiac, Mich.

Second Lt. Wilson Edwin Mundhenke, Rockford, Ill.

Second Lt. Amos Peterson, Congress Park, Ill.

Second Lt. William Charles Silvers, Clinton, Mich.

Second Lt. Elmer Stansell, Detroit.

Graduates Get Diplomas

There is a distinct military atmosphere about the school, even to the program itself which announces daily "assembly" and "recall." Each officer was given physical examination upon his arrival, exactly as he would receive when reporting for any other kind of duty. The officers are under the command of Capt. J. R. Bailey, QMC.

The school will close with a banquet for officers in attendance and visiting army officers, at which diplomas certifying the proficiency of the student officers will be distributed by Capt. Brede.

General Parker Sounds Keynote

The importance of the school is summed up by Maj. Gen. Frank L. Parker, commanding the Sixth Corps Area, in the following statement: "A development of major significance, perhaps not generally recognized, is the growing efficiency and importance of motor truck transportation—not only in industry, but also in national defense."

Col. G. A. Green, former deputy chief mechanical engineer, British Tank Corps, and now vice-president in charge of engineering of the General Motors Truck Company, and Lt. Col. M. D. Mills, ORC, former chief of the transportation branch, Section G-4, General Staff, First Army, A. E. F., and now associated with the truck company, both have active parts in the program of instruction.

Specialists Instruct

Other special instruction is given by representatives of Long Mfg. Co., Delco-Remy Corp., Westinghouse Air Brake Co., Timken Detroit Axle Co., Jones Clutch and Gear Co., Spicer Mfg. Co., Midland Steel Products Co., A. C. Spark Plug Co., Oakland Motor Car Co., General Motors Research Laboratory, Marvel Carburetor Co., Brown Lipe Gear Co., Bendix Brake Co., and Saginaw Steering Gear Division of the General Motors Corporation. After the classroom session dealing with each of the vital factors of truck operation, the members of the school are given a practical demonstration by expert mechanics of proper shop operations on the units in question.

"The army transport service school is laid out along the lines of the newly established course of instruction which we are giving the service managers of the branches and distributors of General Motors Truck Company," Capt. Brede said. "In that way we are in-

Organized Reserves

Recent Special orders, Hq. 3rd Corps Area, announce the promotion of Lt. Col. Herbert A. Smith of Baltimore to grade of Colonel, Infantry Reserve.

Col. Smith served in the Spanish War as private of Company M, 5th Md. Inf., USV., and from 1898 to 1903 through the grades of sergeant, quartermaster-sergeant and first sergeant in the Fifth Maryland Infantry. He was commissioned second lieutenant in 1903; first lieutenant 1906 and captain 1911.

It 1913 Capt. Smith became adjutant of his regiment and in that capacity saw service on the Mexican Border in 1916-17; for five months of this period he was also acting adjutant, 2nd Provisional Brigade, Eagle Pass District.

From 1917-19 Col. Smith served with the 29th, 3rd and 89th Divisions; going overseas with the 4th Pioneer (formerly 6th Mass.) Infantry—a Corps Regiment. He entered Germany with the 3rd Division December, 1918, and later served with the 354th Infantry, returning to this country in September, 1919, when he was assigned to the Overseas Replacement Depot at Camp Meade.

His service since has been as Major, Inf. Res., 1919; with the 319th Infantry on its re-organization in 1921; Lt. Col. of that regiment 1923, and has commanded the regiment since July 1, 1927, Col. Harry C. Jones being on detached service as acting chief-of-staff, 80th Division.

Horseshoeing and the general care of animals, including stable management, are to be taught by the Army in an extension course for second lieutenants of the Infantry Reserve, it is announced.

Schenectady, N. Y. (Special).—At the April General School for Reserve Officers of the 5th Reserve Region, 2nd Corps Area, Maj. S. B. Buckner, jr., Inf., secretary of the Army War College, spoke on the Infantry, and Maj. E. R. Householder, AGD, on duty with the Organized Reserves office at 2nd Corps Area headquarters, at Governor's Island, N. Y., gave a short address on the policies and present conditions of the Organized Reserves.

Col. C. H. Lanza, FA, spoke for a few minutes on the CMTC.

Through the courtesy of the officers of the Mohawk Golf Club, light refreshments were served to all present, following the conference.

Philadelphia (Special).—The local CA Res. units last night heard a lecture by Lt. Col. Reuben A. Bogia, Med. Res., on the subject of Medical Service in the Field.

Pittsburgh (Special).—Lt. Col. E. C. Carten, 370th FA, conducted a joint meeting on April 15 between his regiment and the 371st FA.

Lt. Peter van der Lugt, FA Res., spoke on the Dutch Army; Maj. R. R. Sutton, 371st FA, on Artillery in the Boer War; Lt. Col. C. T. Bundy, 371st FA, on Insignia of Rank of Principal Armies of the World, and Maj. G. H. Walker, Med. Res., on the History of Military Medicine.

New Orleans (Special).—Practical demonstrations of a rolling kitchen and field range, were a feature of the local Quartermaster Reserve conference in which Lt. Col. Pierce Murphy, QM Res., continued his lecture on the Subsistence of the Army, and by comparison of rations showed that the American soldier was the best fed in the world.

Pittsburgh (Special).—At the April 11 conference of the 176th FA, Capt. Charles M. Walton, Inf. (DOL), explained Infantry Arms.

During standard practice, based on the widest possible service experience."

Civil; Military Problems Similar
"Our service engineers have spent several months in a close study of modern service requirements which have changed in the last few years as decisively as have the trucks themselves. With trucks moving daily in every part of the United States on regular schedules, with the dependability of railroads and even greater frequency, the job of keeping them at top efficiency assumes new and vast importance. It is a job closely similar to that of maintaining 100% efficiency in the trucks of the transport service in time of war."

"By adding to our course of instruction those subjects which have particular bearing on army operations, we have almost the ideal school for officers of the motor transport reserve."

Attendance Record?

A STUDY of the attendance records of the Texas National Guard has revealed a perfect attendance record of more than nine years, held by 1st Sgt. Joseph Gurka, Troop E, 124th Cavalry. Sgt. Gurka enlisted in the Texas National Guard May 6, 1918, and assisted in the organization of his present unit, which was then designated as Headquarters Troop, 3rd Texas Cavalry.

He has been a member of the troop continuously since that date, and has attended all encampments, all non-commissioned officers' training schools, and all drills of his organization except one drill on Feb. 16, 1921. He has thus had perfect drill attendance since Feb. 16, 1921, or for a period of more than 9 years, and will have completed 12 years of enlisted service on May 6, 1930. Gurka was appointed stable sergeant in his troop September 1, 1918, and became 1st Sergeant Sept. 8, 1926.

Snelling Will Train 5,000

Ft. Snelling (Special).—Approximately 5000 members of the Regular Army, the Officers' Reserve Corps, the ROTC and the CMTC will train at Ft. Snelling this summer, according to information received by Col. W. S. Sweeney, 3rd Inf.

The training period for units other than the Regular Army will begin June 15 and continue to Aug. 31, while tentative plans call for the concentration here of 2,500 Regular Army troops of the 7th Corps Area in September. Col. Sweeney said that the numbers to be trained at Ft. Snelling in 1930 will be nearly double the number trained here last summer and will exceed any year since the World War.

NG Retired Pay Urged

CREATION of a special retired list for National Guard officers to draw retired pay regardless of rank, was proposed by Representative McSwain in an address before the House of Representatives on April 7.

By the terms of a bill which Mr. McSwain said he intended to introduce, the tentative draft of which he read into the record, "officers of the National Guard of more than 20 years' service as a commissioned officer, coupled with war-time service and based upon an honorable discharge" shall be placed upon a special retired list if suffering from physical disabilities to the extent of 30 per cent or more, irrespective of service origin.

Compensation will be granted to every National Guard officer, over the age of 50 years, regardless of rank, of $100 per month, if they fulfill the requirements stated above, by the terms of the proposed bill. Retired National Guard officers over the age of 60 will receive $150 per month, and those over 70 years $200 per month.

Mr. McSwain stated that he intended to gather data as to the number of men that would come within the provisions of such a law and then he will draft a bill based on such information. For this reason, he continued, I am asking all persons to write me telling me the names and addresses of any such National Guard officers who are not receiving compensation from the Veterans' Bureau.

In his address, Representative McSwain compared the retired officer of the Regular Army with old officers of the National Guard of many years' service. He drew a picture of the work of the latter for national defense, and told of the many cases in which they spent a great deal of their time and money in building the National Guard.

Signal Reservists Active

NINE officers of the Signal Reserve are completing a 14-day active duty training period in the office of the chief signal officer. They are:

Lt. Cols. Frank H. Fay, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; Ira D. Hough, superintendent of the main Western Union Office; David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America; Maj. Richard H. Ranger, also of the R. C. A.; Leon E. Rudd, Kansas City manager for Western Union; George Winchester, a professor at Rutgers; Capt. Emil L. Koenig, of the New York City Board of Transportation; W. F. Moderhak, and 2nd Lt. Lawrence E. Fouchs, of the prohibition unit in New York City.

National Guard Notes

COL. WALLACE M. MASON, 184th Inf., Calif. NG, has been promoted to the grade of brigadier general and has been given Federal recognition in that grade. He has been assigned to the command of the 79th Brigade, of which his old regiment is a part.

Gen. Mason's military record is as follows: Enlisted in Calif. NG, July 21, 1916; Federal service, second lieutenant, Engineers, Dec. 2, 1916, to March 6, 1917; Federal service, second lieutenant, Engineers, June 20, 1917; first lieutenant, Aug. 5, 1917; captain, Aug. 29, 1917; major, March 13, 1919, to June 11, 1919; colonel of Infantry, Calif. NG, Jan. 12, 1925.

Gen. Mason has also held the following Reserve Corps commissions: major of Engineers, Jan. 29, 1924, to Feb. 26, 1925; colonel of Infantry since Feb. 26, 1925.

Houston, Tex. (Special).—The units of the 112th Cavalry, commanded by Col. Lawrence E. McGee, with Headquarters at Dallas, concluded annual Federal armory inspection—Maj. Carl H. Strong, Cav. (DOL), inspecting officer—with 100 per cent of all officers and enlisted men at maintenance strength present. The 112th Cavalry is a regiment of the 56th Cavalry Brigade. The 100 per cent attendance at Federal armory inspection is regarded among National Guard officers as a record.

New York (Special).—The Veterans' Association of the 102nd Combat Engineers have scheduled a review of the regiment for the evening of April 21.

Gunners Get 80 Hits

Ft. Barrancas (Special).—Eighty hits were registered by Ft. Barrancas gunners during record machine gun practice. The battery chalked up an official score of 48, firing on a sleeve target towed by a plane. The distance was 880 yards.

At a preliminary service practice, the gunners fired at a target 450 yards distant. The course of the target was parallel to the battery front. A total of 113 hits were registered for a score of 25.07.

The target was towed by a plane from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.

Addresses AG Meeting

EXTRACTS from an address by the Hon. F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, before the adjutants general association of the United States, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C., April 14:

On behalf of the War Department I am happy to welcome you to Washington and to express my sincere wish that your meetings may be attended with success and accomplishment. The results of previous conventions lead us to expect much of this opportunity for the Adjutants General of the several states to compare experiences in the development of National Guard contingents. Once again you will be able to lay your problems on the table and find out how they appear to others and through what methods they would approach them. In prior meetings you have successfully threshed out what at times appeared to be insuperable difficulties. In your meetings here you have been enabled to view comprehensively the tasks confronting the Department, the Militia Bureau and the National Guard as a whole.

The necessity for such gatherings grows with the steady progress of the National Guard. All of you have witnessed tremendous strides in its development. You can remember the mobilizations on the Mexican border, and the orgy of improvisation that attended them. You can remember the doubts that beset us when the Guard was called on to go overseas and fight in the World War. We did not doubt the men, for we knew that America and the world had nothing better to offer in the way of human material. But it seemed almost unbelievable that so many disjointed units could be fitted into a smooth-running military machine. With the Border experiences fresh in mind, it seemed an impossible task to unite so many diverse units into National Guard divisions which would not only function as such but would form standardized parts of corps and of armies. And you remember, too, the magnitude of the response to the demands of war. By the time the Armistice was signed we possessed seasoned, fire-tested divisions that challenged comparison with any military units in existence, friendly or enemy. The Guard had won its spurs on the field of honor.

The National Guard's accomplishments in the Great War demonstrated its fitness for a vital part in our permanent scheme of national defense. Its success earned the truest and most flattering of rewards—increased responsibilities. As you know, immediately upon the outbreak of war the Guard is charged with the reinforcement of the Regular Army. These two agencies must hold the first line, while, behind them, the huge masses of Reserves are being recruited, organized and trained. In any protracted struggle it is to these last that we must look for the decision. But the realization of these great national armies is dependent primarily on the efficiency and on the tenacity of that first line. Such is your task, and it is worthy of you.

It gives us great satisfaction to see how far the National Guard has advanced toward the accomplishment of its missions. You now number over 180,000 officers and men. Never before has our country possessed a citizen component of its armed forces which was so nearly ready for combat action as is the case today with the National Guard. Efficiency extends all the way up the line. The enlisted men form a representative cross-section of clean-cut American citizenship. Thanks in no small measure to the vision and ability of their leaders, their morale is gratifyingly high. Officers are capable, eager to keep abreast of their profession, and as a rule give of their time and energy in a manner which testifies to their keen personal and patriotic interest. Many states have taken far-sighted measures for the development and training of junior officers. Organizations are staffed, rounded out and coordinated to a degree that would have seemed impossible of attainment in the days before the World War. For what you have done the credit is largely your own. The Guard today is a monument to the intelligence, the devotion, the patience and the hard work of the men who compose it.

While you have done much, your task is necessarily still incomplete. You belong to a living military organism which must conform to the evolving needs of a living and growing nation. We must ceaselessly bear in mind that next year's program will differ from the plans we make today. It is certain that eternal vigilance and eternal forethought are necessary if the full

United States to be designated as the National Guard of the United States under that provision of the Constitution of the United States which grants to Congress the power to raise and maintain armies, and

"Be it further resolved, That we urge the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives of the United States to expedite action on this bill at the present session of Congress."

Another resolution was adopted giving the approval of the Adjutants General's Association to the service pay movement. It follows:

"Whereas, Congress has during the past eight years granted increase of pay to the Cabinet, Congressmen, judiciary, civil service clerks, post-office inspectors, assistant secretaries, public school employees of Washington, D. C., and foreign services representatives of the United States Government, from 25 to 175 per cent, and

"Whereas, no increase has been made to any of the uniformed services, and

"Whereas the pay of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health Service, and Coast and Geodetic Survey is entirely inadequate for proper support, and

"Whereas, an Interdepartmental Pay Board was appointed for the purpose of studying the pay situation in the above-named services, which recommendations are now before Congress.

"Now, therefore, be it Resolved by the Association of Adjutants General representing 35 States in convention assembled at Washington, D. C., that this organization go on record as endorsing the increase in pay as recommended by the Interdepartmental Pay Board.

"Be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the individual members of the Joint Committee of Congress appointed for the purpose of investigating the matter of pay and making recommendations thereon."

The meeting was purely one of discussion. Election of officers is held at the fall meeting, which this year will be Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1, in Boston, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Guard Association. At this week's meeting Brig. Gen. F. D. Beary, of Pennsylvania, president of the association, presided.

Maj. Gen. C. E. Black, of Illinois, secretary, was unable to attend, so Brig. Gen. A. T. Johnson, of Vermont, was appointed secretary for the meeting.

The meeting was expected to be in session for three days but completed its business on April 15 and adjourned sine die.

Speakers on April 14 were Brig. Gen. F. B. Beary of Pennsylvania, president of the Association, Maj. Gen. William potentialities of the National Guard are to be realized. The War Department is happy to feel that so much of the responsibility for this vigilance and forethought is in your keeping.

I wish particularly to mention the interest of the War Department in the work of the 19 National Guard Observation Squadrons. It would be difficult to find a higher type of personnel in any tactical units anywhere than those which compose these squadrons. By reason of this fact, and their fine esprit de corps, they have raised themselves to a high state of proficiency. It is earnestly to be hoped that the equipment of these squadrons will be of the latest types in order that their training and experience may condition them to take their places as tactical units in the field immediately upon the outbreak of an emergency. This objective is one which is very close to my own heart.

One final word. We must remember always that we have but one Army—the Army of the United States. Its three components interlock. The men in each component come from the same homes. If we are ever forced to wield our full military power, it will be accomplished only through the closest cooperation between units and between components. It is your honor to be entrusted with some of the vital missions connected with our defense. In your hands you hold a tremendous power to make or mar. Your responsibilities do not end with the capable performance of your administrative and training missions. There is a bigger mission. You must see to it that the Guard continues to fit smoothly and effectively into that structure on which we base our National Defense.

MOWW Gives Plaque

EACH year the War Department Judges select the best drilled company of High School Cadet Corps. The District Chapter of the Military Order of the World War has donated a silver plaque to be given to the best company, divisions one to nine. When one of the high schools has won the trophy three years it will become the property of that school. The committee that chose the plaque is composed of Col. Courtland Nixon, Maj. Gen. Neville, commandant of Marine Corps, and Maj. Enualls Waggaman. The Military Order of the World War, composed of officers who served in the Great War desires to reward these schools for the interest in the patriotic study of military, which results in character building and physical training.

nary skill, daring and leadership in the numerous contacts he made with the bandit forces."

Lts. Lamson-Scribner and Weir and Mstr. Tech. Sgt. Munsch have received citations for daring and skill displayed in an aerial attack on the stronghold of Gen. Sandino on the Chipote Mountain. The air force in which all three were pilots "attacked the position and persisted in the attack in the face of heavy rifle and machine-gun fire until the bandits were put to flight."

1st Lts. Guyman and Chappell were cited for performing numerous hours of flying over "wooded and mountainous country in fair weather and foul for the purpose of bringing supplies to and removing the sick and wounded from distant and isolated outposts." Both officers were specifically mentioned for their "commendable courage and zeal in promptly and effectively returning their fire" during many contacts made with the bandits from the air.

Capt. Campbell received a special letter of commendation from the Acting Secretary of the Navy for attacking a body of 200 revolutionary troops from the air. The troops opened such a heavy fire upon the plane that it was struck 13 times. The plane carried no rear guns, no bombs, and only 150 rounds of ammunition in the fixed gun. "Disregarding personal property, Capt. Campbell immediately attacked the enemy single-handed until all ammunition had been expended."

2nd Lt. John D. Blanchard was awarded the Navy Cross for distinguished service while in charge of a patrol, which on December 6, 1929, faced a mob of 1,500 hostile Haitians advancing on the city of Aux Cayes "with the intention of entering the city to rob, burn and kill." The citation praises Lt. Blanchard for his "commendable courage and forbearance in attempting to disperse the mob by peaceful means," and "laudable presence of mind and leadership" in the application of force when it became absolutely necessary.

Chief Marine Gunner Calvin Lloyd, who was with Lt. Blanchard at the time, has received a letter of commendation from the Acting Secretary of War for the effective assistance he rendered his commanding officer.

A letter of commendation has also been awarded to Pvt. Milton Friedman, who jumped into the shark-infested waters of the city of Cape Haitian, Haiti, and saved Andre Denis from drowning.

SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1930

"* * * The recent unanimous report of the Interdepartmental Pay Board * * * is highly informative and its recommendations present a sound basis upon which the Congress may formulate legislation."

RESOLUTION OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

WE WERE DISAPPOINTED by the failure of the War Department to include in its legislative program the proposal for an increase in pay for the services. That failure, however, did not surprise us. The policy of the Administration is "rigid economy and deferment of even otherwise justifiable expenditures." Moreover, with the approval of the President, Congress is making an investigation of the pay situation, and a bill to remedy the financial ills under which the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are suffering cannot be made ready for consideration, probably, until the next session.

THE DISAPPOINTMENT WE feel is with the policy in force, a policy we hold not in accord with the wishes of the people, and certainly their business leaders. As to the latter, the action of the New York Chamber of Commerce, reported in our columns last week, is demonstrative of the conclusions produced by investigation. What New York did, every Chamber elsewhere, which has considered the matter, has done; and we are confident others will take like action. It is our belief also that the National Chamber will set the seal of its approval upon the movement.

BUSINESS MEN KNOW that in order to support the Services, in order to increase their pay, money must be raised. The only way to raise it is by taxation. Consequently, neither the Administration nor the Congress can properly withhold action in the face of the national demand, which the resolutions adopted represent. Both the War and the Navy Departments know, even better than those outside the Services, the paucity of pay our officers and men, active and retired, endure. Beside this great need, other requirements are non-essential. Therefore, in our judgment, the legislative program presented should have contained a paragraph urging as the first bill to be passed an increase in compensation. With that in force, contentment would be assured, and efficiency would be greatly promoted.

THE LABORS AT LONDON have brought forth a treaty. That Treaty will experience rough sledding in the Senate. The pacifists will oppose it, because they want the United States to disarm, whether other nations disarm or not. Senators who want equality of sea power and not mere parity in naval tonnage, will oppose it, because they want their country to have the substance and not the shadow. But whether the Treaty be ratified or not, the President and the Congress should see that the ships we are authorized to build shall be built, and not be put and kept in the blue print stage. As we look at it, we have said to the world "we are going to build a fleet of such and such a size. We believe a fleet of that size is in the interest of world peace." If we fail to build, it will be said that our course at London was just another American bluff, and at the next conference, that to be held at Tokyo, what we urge will receive no consideration. In any case, we would have little to trade there.

MRS. EDITH BOURSE ROGERS, the able Congresswoman from Massachusetts, wants our troops clothed in attractive blue and not be forced to appear everywhere in their "work clothes." We are in sympathy with Mrs. Rogers' point of view. But we would like to ask her if she has thought about the wherewithal to pay the tailors' bills. The enlisted men receive a clothing allowance, but even they have to pay for the tailoring of blue uniforms. The officers get no clothing allowance, and we know that the pay of the juniors does not permit them to buy blue in addition to khaki. They can go into debt, many of them are, but of course Mrs. Rogers would not want that. We suggest to Mrs. Rogers that she exert her influence to obtain an adequate clothing allowance, and if this proves impossible, then to press the prompt enactment of the increase of pay legislation.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S legislative program to which we referred in our lead editorial has been subjected to some sharp criticism, particularly in Congress. Thirty-eight projects are presented for prompt action. Those relating to housing are designed to continue the policy of improving the wretched living conditions which maintain at the points designated, and their approval should be a matter of course. But of the 38 items, only ten refer to the personnel, one to give war time rank to retired officers, another to provide aids for the Chief of Staff, a third for the Veterinary Corps, a fourth to withhold pay to cover indebtedness to the United States, a fifth to authorize good conduct medal awards to enlisted men, a sixth and seventh to recover and dispose of bodies of civil employees, and to authorize the payment of burial expenses for former service men, an eighth to make the appropriations for the Reserves, bear the traveling expenses of Regular Officers assigned thereto, a ninth relative to the employment of caretakers for National Guard organizations, and a tenth authorizing officers of the ROTC to receive commutation of subsistence.

WHAT HAS BECOME of promotion, members of the Military Committees are asking. Isn't this matter as important as it was in the last Congress? It is. But promotion is secondary at present to pay. Enough play to live on decently is what the Services are seeking. That is of first importance. This does not mean that promotion is to be definitely side-tracked. Yet that would appear to be the case from a perusal of the legislative program the Department has submitted to the Congress. We don't wonder that Congress sometimes gets confused. At one session, it is impressed with the notion that the Services will go to rack and ruin unless a proposal should be enacted, at the next that proposal is forgotten and another presented which has no relation to the former. The Navy is far wiser in this respect than the Military Arm. In spite of the effort to get the needed pay increase, the Navy has kept constantly pressing for its promotion bill. The chances are it will get it. We are glad to have assisted it in this necessary achievement, and intend to do our utmost in this respect to get a like result for the Army and the Marine Corps.

GENERAL PERSHING SAILED last Saturday on the Leviathan for France, to inspect the progress of the work on the battle monuments being erected in that country. This great leader has never forgotten his "boys," who so bravely and gallantly carried out and achieved by their sacrifice the careful battle plans he formulated. The Nation is fortunate in having as its representative a modest, unassuming gentleman, who cares nothing for political plaudits, but everything for those with whom, as he has said, he had the honor to serve.

WHEN YOU ARE TRANSFERRED

ASK the Journal about living conditions, etc., at the Post to which you have been directed to proceed. Questions will be answered as soon as possible either in this column or by letters. Address Post Editor.

N. A.—Chanute Field is located one mile from Rantoul, Illinois, which has a population of 1,550, and 15 miles from Champaign and Urbana. Taxi service may be had to Rantoul, but a private car is a necessity in going to Champaign. The children attend public and high schools in Rantoul. There is also a Catholic parochial school there. There is a small post commissary and good markets in both Rantoul and Champaign. Quarters consist of 5 bachelor sets and 18 married sets. Splendid concrete roads. Tennis courts and swimming on post. Two country clubs in Champaign offer special dues for golfing. The general weather conditions are hot in summer and cold in winter. Both cotton and wool are worn. A Catholic chaplain is assigned.

ASK THE JOURNAL

ALL questions on which our readers desire information will be answered as soon as possible after receipt. If there is any query you have in mind, send it to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR. It will save you time and trouble. Avail yourselves of this "Service to the Services."

IN THE JOURNAL 60 YEARS AGO

THE second annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Republic was held in Philadelphia last Saturday. President Grant and Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Meade, Schofield, McDowell, Wright, Newton, Humphreys, Heintzelman, Hunt, Parke, Ingalls, Burnside, Pleasanton, Davies, Fairchild, Mott were present. Maj. Gen. George G. Meade was elected president for the coming year.

Brevet Brig. Gen. Sidney Burbank, colonel, USA, has been retired upon his own request after more than forty years' service, effective May 1, 1870.

Recommendation has been received by the Senate Naval Committee from the Secretary of the Navy advocating the granting of twelve months' pay to the dependents of officers and men of the Oneida who were drowned in the collision of the Oneida with the Bombay. The committee is believed to be in favor of the measure.

The House Naval Affairs Committee has been holding meetings on the bill submitted by the Department for the reorganization of the Navy. An amendment has been agreed to providing that no staff officer shall be considered a subordinate to an executive officer when the grade of the latter is of lower rank than that held by the staff officer.

Agreement has been reached by the House military committee to favorably report a bill to sell the military reservations at Ft. Kearney, Iowa; Ft. Wayne, Ark., and Rush Valley, Utah Territory.

Amend FA Reorganization

THE plan for the reorganization of the Field Artillery has been amended, under date of April 15, in the following respects:

The 1st Battalion, 5th FA, rearmend, will be moved to Ft. Oglethorpe for permanent station, rather than to Ft. Ethan Allen, when the 3rd Battalion (less Co. K) of the 22nd Infantry moves to Ft. McClellan.

The partially inactive battery and battery section of the battalion combat train, 7th FA (less 2nd Bn.), Ft. Ethan Allen, will be reconstituted as fully active units in lieu of making them wholly inactive, a portion of the personnel for this purpose to be sent from Fts. Hoyle and Bragg.

The 1st Bn, 5th FA, will be transferred from Ft. Bragg to Ft. Oglethorpe instead of to Ft. Ethan Allen. The 3d Bn, 13th Inf., will remain at Ft. Ethan Allen.

No men will be transferred to Ft. Myer, Ft. Lewis, or Madison Bks.

The 13th Ammunition Train, the Service Artillery and the Band of the 5th FA, and the partially inactive battery and battery section of the battalion combat train of 2d Bn, 16th FA, will be rendered inactive. Hq. and Hq. Bty, 5th FA, will be reduced to three officers and the following: One technical sergeant one corporal, two privates, first class, and two privates; station Ft. Bragg.

Various changes are also made in the transfers of enlisted men incident to the reorganization.

Retired Officers Association

A STATEMENT of the purposes of the Retired Officers' Association, written recently by Col. A. T. Marix, USMC, ret., president of the association, has met with a great deal of favorable comment. Showing as it does the aims of this association, which is doing so much constructive work for the entire body of retired officers as well as for its members, the statement should be read by all retired officers of the three services.

Col. Marix has been devoting his entire time traveling extensively in the interests of all the Retired Officers. He is now in the East working in their behalf. The association is certainly one to which all those eligible should belong so that they may be a part of the organization which is constantly endeavoring to see that their interests are being carefully safeguarded. Those interested should communicate with the headquarters of the association in the Van Nuys Building, Los Angeles, Calif.

The statement written by Col. Marix follows:

"To cherish the memories and associations made during our career on the active list; to inculcate and stimulate love of our country and the flag; to ever maintain law and order; to defend the honor, integrity, and supremacy of our National Government and the Constitution of the United States; to foster fraternal relations between all branches of the military and naval services; to promote the cultivation of military and naval science and a suitable military and naval policy of the United States; to present the rights and interests of retired commissioned, warrant officers, nurses, and enlisted men of the United Services when Service legislation is under consideration by the Congress of the United States, we unite to establish the Retired Officers' Association of the United States."

SERVICE SPORTS

19TH ORD. CO. TO ABERDEEN

THE Secretary of War has directed the immediate transfer to the 19th Ordnance Company from Watervliet Arsenal, N. Y., to Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., for station. This company will be used at the Proving Ground to restore and care for the railway and other material at that post.

PLAN 14-TEAM POLO MEET.

Ft. McPherson (Special).—Interest in polo, which for a number of years has been on a slow but steady increase in the southeast, is to receive considerable impetus in the culmination of plans for the largest polo tournament ever staged in this section between May 25 and June 8.

Invitations have been sent to clubs that will provide for possibly 14 entries. Invitations were extended to the polo clubs of Aiken, S. C.; Camden, S. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Shreveport, La.; Fts. Bragg, Benning and Oglethorpe; Maxwell Field; U. of Georgia, ROTC; Governor's House Guards, Atlanta; 118th FA, Savannah; 116th FA, Tampa; 141st FA and 108th Cavalry Polo Club, New Orleans.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, the 4th Corps Area commander, and Brig. Gen. George H. Estes, commanding Ft. McPherson, are both lending their enthusiastic support, which practically assures the success of the project.

3 USMA GAMES TODAY

West Point (Special).—Army commences its tennis schedule today against Swarthmore, meeting Haverford in baseball and Lafayette in lacrosse.

Army's baseball nine defeated the Connecticut Aggies on April 12 by 2 to 1. Hobart succumbed in lacrosse, 8-2, but the Oxford-Cambridge combine from England displayed its superiority by 6 points to 1.

The April 26 schedule embraces Army participation in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, lacrosse and baseball against U. of Maryland at College Park, and tennis at Washington with Georgetown. The only home event will be a Plebe lacrosse game against Erasmus H. S.

IN ATLANTA HORSE SHOW

Ft. Benning (Special).—The Infantry School horse show team, after its recent victories at Augusta, is now in training for the Atlanta horse show, April 25-26. Officers and ladies of the Benning team will be quartered at Ft. McPherson.

The 4th Corps Area commander, Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, addressing Brig. Gen. Campbell King, commandant at Ft. Benning, expressed pride and satisfaction with the horse show team and its showing at Augusta, and said he hoped to ride "with and against" the Benningites at Atlanta.

Members of the team now training for the Atlanta show include Maj. John B. Thompson, Capt. Robert A. McClure, Lts. Robert D. McKnight, O. C. Mood, David D. Hedekin, J. R. Moon; Mrs. Charles L. Bolte, Mrs. David D. Hedekin, Mrs. Howard W. Brimmer and Miss Nancy Ross.

At Augusta the Infantry School team won 34 ribbons out of a possible 48, including two championships, two reserve championships, eight firsts and eight seconds. The performance of Miss Sue Brandt was outstanding, winning three firsts, four seconds and two fourths. Entries from Bragg, McPherson and Moultrie competed.

Sports Briefs

THE 4th Regiment of Marines this year won the Chinese rugby title with eight wins and two ties, scoring a total of 257 points against 20 for all opponents.

Lt. T. Henry Hederman has been temporarily appointed baseball coach at the Naval Academy.

Army lost to the N. Y. Giants on April 14, 18-0.

The Ft. Niagara baseball team will join the Niagara Falls twilight league this year.

Before 2,000 fans, the polo team of the 1st Battalion, 83d FA, defeated the 29th Infantry four at French Field April 13, 9 to 6, and won the championship of the Ft. Benning senior polo loop.

Army defeated the Wesleyan nine on April 16, 11 to 2.

WILL START HEALTH FARM

West Point (Special).—Mr. Frank Wandle, who since 1923 has been the trainer of all varsity teams at the U. S. Military Academy here, has resigned his position and plans to open a health farm in Canada for business men, according to Maj. P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics. Wandle intends to adopt the same training methods he has successfully applied at West Point to business men who are in poor physical condition. The farm will be situated just north of Ottawa and this summer will be spent by Wandle getting it established.

7 NAVY TEAMS ACTIVE

Annapolis (Special).—Navy oarsmen take to the Severn today against three M. I. T. crews and four crews from Columbia. The first track meets are also being held, Varsity contending with U. of Virginia, the Plebes with the same institution's Freshmen. Lehigh will be Varsity's baseball opponent, Georgia Tech., that in lacrosse, and Columbia that in tennis. Plebes meet Baltimore City College in tennis.

With Ruddy Bauer pitching a full game, Navy defeated the Fordham nine on April 12 by 5-2. Harvard won over Varsity in tennis, 8-1. The Plebe lacrosse team won a 7-2 victory over Severn school.

April 26 will see Varsity ranged against Washington and Lee in baseball, Lafayette in lacrosse, Franklin and Marshall in tennis, and the 5th Inf., Md. NG, on the rifle ranges. Plebes meet Baltimore City College in lacrosse, Emerson Institute of Washington in baseball and Mercersburg in tennis on that day.

C. of S. Inspects O. CSO

RECENTLY completed installations in the War Department Message Center, and the new transmission system at Ft. Myer, controlled from the Message Center, as well as the office of the Chief Signal Officer, were inspected by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, on April 15.

The date was an auspicious one for the visit to the Message Center, as duplex radio communication between that center and San Francisco was instituted in the morning. Over 100 messages were received during the first hour within ten minutes after filing in San Francisco. The day's total was in the neighborhood of 300, received with similar speed. Capt. Frank S. Stoner, CS, commands this activity of the Signal Corps.

Gen. Summerall expressed keen pleasure at his observations of the Army system of radio communications, which handles business for over 40 branches of the government and last year was the means of saving about $366,000, incidentally to being a vital link in the system of National defense, within ready call of every Army post.

Capt. Stoner estimated that the Message Center would handle a record business of two million words during April.

In the office of the Chief Signal Officer, Gen. Summerall was enabled to observe a branch in which the decentralization idea he cherishes has been put most thoroughly into effect, activities of other than supervisory character having been gradually removed from Washington during the two years' administration of the present Chief Signal Officer, Maj. Gen. George S. Bibbs.

That Budget System

CHARGES that the War and Navy Departments are breaking down the budget system by submitting "very smooth and adroit reports indicating approval without saying so," on bills disapproved by the Budget Bureau, were made in the House by Representative Cramton on April 11.

The issue was raised during the consideration of H. R. 10662, providing for the hospitalization and medical treatment of Fleet Naval Reservists and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists without expense to the reservist. In opposing the measure, Mr. Cramton said: "This is another bill which is in harmony with the general policy of the Naval Affairs Committee of disregarding the Budget. It is true that the Secretary of the Navy makes a report from which one might infer that the Navy is in favor of the bill, and then concludes with the statement that it was referred to the Budget and the Budget recommended against its enactment, and hence the department does not make a recommendation."

"I do not care so much about any of these little bills," continued Mr. Cramton, "but I am concerned with whether our Budget system is going to be shot full of holes by the Navy Department. If the administration will permit the submission of these reports—that I will not call hypocritical, but reports that are at least ingenious, going as far as they can in manifesting approval without saying in so many words that they approve of the bill—if the administration is going to permit any department to indulge in this kind of pastime, a kind of blindman's buff game with the Budget, you are going to ruin the Budget system."

Questioned as to what a department should do when a measure upon which they have been working for sometime and which they are greatly in need, is objected to, by the Budget, Representative Cramton stated that the department should report that the Budget had recommended adversely on the bill, and "then go further and present the facts as to what the bill is, and what it does without the phrases that they so adroitly put in."

Representative Vinson, ranking Democrat on the Naval Affairs Committee, asked Representative Cramton if it was not due that the Army and Navy had gotten into the habit of overriding the Budget, in following the example of the Appropriations Committee, of which Mr. Cramton is a member. He replied that this charge was not true, unless it applied only to the subcommittee on naval and army appropriations, and that those subcommittees were entitled to full sympathy for their efforts to hold down the demands of the Army and Navy, they had to resort to extreme measures.

Upon the objection of Representative French, chairman of the Navy Department subcommittee on Appropriations, the bill under discussion was passed over.

Increases Retired Rank

SENATOR ROBSION has introduced S. 4110, to amend the World War Veteran's Act of 1924 so as to provide that all enlisted men of the Regular Army who served between the dates of April 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, who were honorably discharged as commissioned officers during the World War, who have had 15 or more years' service and who have been or may be discharged from the service with 50 per centum or more disability in line of duty be given the pay and allowances of a retired warrant officer of the Regular Army.

No Funds for Racing

THE Navy is deficient in high speed racing planes because funds for experiment in this field have not been available, states Acting Secretary of the Navy Jahncke in a letter to the Senate Naval Affairs Committee made public this week.

In his report to the Committee on Senate Resolutions asking for an investigation of conditions pertaining to the development of fast pursuit and bombing planes of the Navy as compared with those of other nations, Secretary Jahncke says, however, that "at the present time the service and experimental types of aircraft in the United States are superior to those designed for use aboard ship in any other service."

With a meeting of the subcommittee to which the resolution was referred, on last Wednesday, consideration of the investigation was completed, and Senator Tydings, author of the resolution and chairman of the subcommittee, stated that he was preparing a report on the committee's findings and that it would be made available in a few days.

In his letter, Mr. Jahncke takes up various phases of the investigation as it was proposed in the resolution. "First, it contains praise for Lt. Williams," he declares, speaking of the preamble of the bill. "The services of Lt. Williams to aviation have been most valuable, but the Navy Department believes that the language of this resolution tends to discredit by comparison the many other officers in aviation and elsewhere in the naval service who have accomplished quite as extraordinary achievements and who have also been rewarded by official decoration and by civic honors and also the more numerous officers who have done their duty loyally and in full without attracting public attention or receiving public acclaim. Without exception, these other officers have performed their regular quota of sea duty."

"Second," he continues, "The resolution infers that the Navy Department in ordering Lt. Williams to sea duty did injustice to that officer or to Naval Aviation. An examination of the record of Lt. Williams clearly shows that this officer has throughout his naval career been treated with extreme consideration."

"Third, the statement is made in the resolution that the United States is deficient in the type of plane with which Lt. Williams has been experimenting, it is resolved that the Committee on Naval Affairs investigate the fast pursuit and bombing plane situation. That the United States is deficient in high speed racing planes is well known. The Navy Department discontinued the active development of high speed racing planes because experimental funds available were not and still are not sufficient to cover the high cost of such a program, and at the same time push the development of service types of airplanes and their use aboard ship in accordance with the Five Year Program."

"That the Mercury Racer has not been a success is attributable to neither Lt. Williams nor the Navy Department, but to the unusual and unsatisfactory conditions under which the project has been prosecuted. The Navy Department recognizes the benefits to be derived from high speed development and the fact that if such development is permanently abandoned, it cannot help but have a serious effect in the performance of our service type craft. However, the remedy for this condition is not a matter of personnel, but a matter of additional funds with the specific approval of Congress."

"It can easily be stated that at the present time, the service and experimental types of aircraft in Naval Aviation are superior to those designed for use aboard ship in any other service, and the Navy Department is ready to cooperate to the fullest extent in the proposal."

Nurses Graduate May 29

FORTY-EIGHT members of the Army Nurse Corps are scheduled to graduate from the Army School of Nurses, Walter Reed Hospital, on May 29.

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, Architects Building, Washington, D. C.

The War Department has been notified of the death of Col. Homer W. Wheeler, USA, ret., at Los Angeles, California, April 11, 1930.

Col. Wheeler was born in Montgomery, Vermont, May 13, 1848. He was appointed to the Army from Kansas and commissioned a 2nd lieutenant, 5th Cavalry, Oct. 15, 1875; promoted 1st lieutenant Oct. 13, 1884; Captain of Cavalry April 7, 1893; Major Oct. 29, 1902; Lt. Colonel February 26, 1910; Colonel March 11, 1911; retired at his own request, after 30 years' service, Sept. 24, 1911; graduate of Infantry-Cavalry School, 1883.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Clara B. Wheeler, Montgomery, Vermont.

The passing of Mrs. Genevieve La Tourrette Collins, wife of the late Dr. Joseph T. Collins, USA, at Walter Reed Hospital on April 12, marks the final chapter in the history of one generation of an old Army family. In 1867 her father, Chaplain J. A. M. La Tourrette, crossed the plains to his new station, Ft. Garland, Colo., taking with him his wife, son and four daughters. All of the daughters married in the Army, and all now have children in the Army. Mrs. Collins was the last surviving member of the Chaplain's family.

She had lived for many years in Washington where she leaves many relatives and friends. She is survived by three grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter.

Oppose Hon. Discharge

REOPENING the cases of members of the military forces who have not served during a period of war and who were discharged for misrepresentation of age, etc., is opposed by the War Department, reporting on H. R. 10964.

Answering an objection by Mr. McClintic, of Oklahoma, that these ex-soldiers are denied Civil Service appointments, it is contended that existing law warrants merely their loss of preferential consideration as ex-soldiers.

Gen. Howland Speaks

Cheyenne (Special)—Brig. Gen. C. Howland was the speaker here at a luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. The General made a short talk on Army Day, in which he explained briefly, the nature of the army organization, and emphasized the necessity of absolute non-personal attitude of all members of the Regular Army. He spoke of the relationship of the Army to the Government and illustrated his point with historical references. His talk was enthusiastically received by members of the Kiwanis Club and regrets were expressed that the General did not have more time to elaborate on his subject. Gen. Howland was introduced by Dr. G. M. Anderson, who complimented both Cheyenne and Ft. Francis E. Warren on the splendid relations being maintained and improved between the civilian and the military.

IG Inspects Presidio

Presidio of San Francisco (Special)—Maj. Gen. H. A. Drum, the Inspector General, recently reviewed the 30th Infantry, commanded by Col. Fred R. Brown. Following the review Gen. Drum made an inspection of one 30th Infantry barracks and stables, thence to Crissy Field, the post commissary, post exchange and guard house, in the order named. He then made a tour of the whole post, paying particular attention to the condition of quarters and grounds.

Gen. Drum was apparently satisfied with the showing made by the personnel and installations at the Presidio and was especially pleased with the excellent conditions of the 30th Infantry barracks and stables.

Britten Quizes Sub Status

WHAT is wrong with the Navy's submarines? Chairman Britten asked the Acting Chief of Naval Operations, Rear Adm. W. H. Standley, this question at a hearing held by the Committee on Naval Affairs last Wednesday to determine whether 13 submarines recommended by the Board of Inspection and Survey for scrapping should be disposed of.

Adm. Standley, in answer, stated that he did not know, that experts of the Navy on submarine construction had for years been studying the problem but as yet they had not been able to build submarines that equalled those of foreign nations. The chief trouble, Adm. Standley said, was in the engines, the same defect which made necessary the scrapping of the O-11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, and the R-21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, the thirteen subs under consideration.

"For years," said Representative Britten, "I have been trying to find out why the Navy will build a submarine at a cost of $10,000,000 and then after four or five years decommission the vessel as unfit for service as is true in the present case."

"I don't believe that the Navy can build a submarine that is worth a damn," declared Chairman Britten.

He then asked Adm. Standley if he did not agree with him, adding "leaving off the damn." The Admiral, however, answered that though he was not satisfied with the Navy's submarines, as compared with those of foreign nations, he felt that the V-boats at least were efficient craft.

The hearing came about as a result of a request made some weeks ago by the Naval Affairs Committee that they be consulted before the Navy scrapped any destroyers or submarines. Adm. Standley laid the report of the Board of Inspection and Survey before the Committee, recommending the disposal of the 13 submarines, which although only 12 or 13 years old, have become obsolete. According to law, the sole decision as to scrapping of vessels of the Navy lies with the Secretary. In view of the committee's request, however, the matter was brought before it. At the conclusion of the hearing, they voted to scrap the submarines.

The Board recommending the disposal of the vessels, declared that they were unfit for further service, except possibly for coastal defense only as a result of the poor condition of the machinery on the 13 submarines. Reconditioning of or the installation of new machinery would be uneconomical, the Board found, even though the hulls were in good shape.

Several members of the Committee desired to know whether additional submarines would have to be scrapped under the agreement reached by the London Conference.

According to the published statement of the agreement, we will be allowed 52,700 tonnage in submarines, Adm. Standley informed them. As we now have 88,000 tons in submarines, in and out of commission, we will have to scrap 35,300 tons. A preliminary survey shows, he went on to say, that all of the subs out of commission 44 in number, will have to go, and in addition 12 of those in commission, making 56 in all which will have to be scrapped under the terms of the 3-power agreement.

Enlisted Retirement Bill

REPRESENTATIVE WURZBACH of Texas, has introduced a bill (H. R. 11590), providing retirement of enlisted men in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps after 25 years of service, with 75 per cent of pay and allowances, the latter being set at $9.50 per month in lieu of rations and clothing and $6.25 per month in lieu of quarters, fuel and light.

FT. LEAVENWORTH, KANS.

April 13, 1930

THE vacation week has come to a close and April 6 saw the return of the last of the vacationists.

Col. and Mrs. J. A. Woodruff were hosts at dinner at their quarters before the hop April 4. Capt. and Mrs. J. C. Baker entertained with a buffet supper at their home the same evening. Capt. and Mrs. Ross Baldwin were hosts for 30 guests at dinner at the Officers' Club April 4, the party later attending the hop at the Golf Club. Capt. and Mrs. M. Fortier chose the Chocolate Shop Cafe for their dinner for 20 friends preceding the hop. Col. and Mrs. H. M. Miller presided at a dinner for 50 friends at the Officers' Club April 4.

POSTS and STATIONS

The mixed scotch foursome played at the Golf Club April 4 was won by Mrs. C. M. Easley and Maj. F. L. Culin. This couple won the play-off in a tie with Mrs. C. C. Smith and Maj. Brett. There were 74 entries in the tournament, which proved to be one of the pleasantest of the vacation affairs.

Maj. and Mrs. R. P. Williams entertained informally at supper Sunday night, April 6, at their quarters. Later, bridge, roulette, and movies were enjoyed by the guests. Mrs. J. H. Bryson was hostess for three tables of bridge at her home April 6. Mrs. T. J. Camp entertained the members of the Monday Bridge Club at her quarters April 7, with one additional table of guests.

The Ft. Leavenworth Woman's Club ended their season of 1929-30, with an elaborate luncheon at the Golf Club April 9. About 200 guests were seated at 20 long tables, which were gaily decorated with spring flowers. The retiring president, Mrs. F. J. Heraty, introduced the new president, Mrs. H. M. Miller, who graciously greeted the guests. The Rev. Dr. R. N. Spencer of Kansas City was the speaker of the afternoon, and later Rita Present played several delightful piano numbers.

Maj. and Mrs. G. H. Peabody were called to Cheyenne, Wyo., several days ago by the death of Maj. Peabody's father.

Mrs. Olmstead, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Baker, left April 12 for her home. Mrs. Rees and Miss Margaret Rees arrived from France April 11 and are the guests of Maj. and Mrs. T. H. Rees on Sumner Place.

Maj. and Mrs. J. M. Thompson complimented Miss Lane Saunders and Maj. Buchly with a charming buffet supper before the hop April 11. The guests included all the members of the wedding party. The marriage of Miss Saunders and Maj. Buchly will take place at the post chapel June 17.

Among the dinner hosts April 11, were Maj. and Mrs. D. H. Torrey, who entertained 12 guests; Capt. and Mrs. Asa Duncan, who were hosts for 25; and Maj. and Mrs. J. B. Lattin. All the parties later attended the weekly hop at the Golf Club.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Earl McFarland entertained at luncheon April 11, in honor of Lt. Col. C. B. Hodges, aide to the President. Lt. Col. Hodges has been spending a short time with friends in Kansas City.

Comptroller General Decisions

A-31074. (S) Transportation of household goods—Uncrating—Army officer. Where an Army officer on duty as military attache has had his household goods transported at Government expense from his old to his new station, including packing, crating, freight and drayage to his new station, there is no authority under the act of March 23, 1928, 45 Stat. 333, to reimburse the officer for the cost of unpacking or uncrating the household goods at his new station.

A-29607. Navy Pay—Misrepresentation of age—Discharge at request of Parent or Guardian.

"When the discharge of an enlisted man of the Navy who misstated his age at enlistment is requested by his parent or guardian, inasmuch as the act of March 3, 1915, 38 Stat. 931, makes it compulsory upon the Secretary of the Navy to void the enlistment contract on the ground of the misstatements to release him "upon payment of full cost of first outfit," the man is not entitled to any pay or allowances under his contract of enlistment unpaid at the time when the true facts are established.

A-30703. (S) Rewards—Stragglers—Navy.

Where the commanding officer of a Navy vessel offers a reward for the apprehension and delivery of a straggler from that vessel conditioned upon delivery to the naval authorities within 9 days from the date of the offer, and the straggler is in fact delivered the next day after the expiration of the offer, no contract resulted from the offer of reward and attempted acceptance by performance not in conformity to the offer; but the Secretary of the Navy may authorize payment not exceeding the amount of reward offered for the claimant's services and expenses.

A-31075. (S) Medical treatment—Officers' Reserve Corps.

Where a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps procures civilian medical treatment on his own initiative for injury alleged to have had its inception during his period of active duty, the first symptoms of which became evident after he had left the camp, he is not entitled to pay, allowances, and medical attention at public expense under the act of April 26, 1928, 45 Stat. 461. A-30372—March 18, 1930; A-27659, June 27, 1929.

A-31137. (S) Property, private—Lost or destroyed in military service.

Private property of an officer of the Army lost while in storage for his convenience in a warehouse at point of destination is not lost in transit, either by a common carrier, or by an agent or agency of the Government, and reimbursement for such loss under the provisions of section 1 of the act of March 4, 1921, 41 Stat. 1436, is not authorized. 6 Comp. Gen. 40.

A-31179. (S) Transportation—Dependents of Navy enlisted man—Delayed travel.

The act of May 18, 1920, 40 Stat. 604, does not authorize transportation at increased cost by reason of dependent's delay in travel, and where delay is more than 60 days, the increased cost of transportation must be borne by the officer or enlisted man concerned, and such increased cost should be collected when transportation is issued. A-16097 of Dec. 7, 1926; A-20008 of Oct. 17, 1927.

A-30420. (S) Pay—Additional—Expert gunner—Army enlisted man.

The Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, in compliance with paragraph 3a(3), A. R. 35-2380, having limited to 7 the number of men in Company "F," 1st Gas Regiment, who might qualify for additional compensation, and having directed that qualification be by competitive examination, an enlisted man of that Company who competed in the examination and was found qualified as an expert gunner, but who was not one of the seven receiving the highest marks designated to receive the additional compensation, is not entitled to such additional compensation, his qualification as expert gunner not being an "authorized qualification" for the purpose of additional compensation, within the meaning of paragraph 11, A. R. 35-2380.

"AT HOME" IN NEW YORK

Editor, Army and Navy Journal:

UNDER the principle that "Service for the living is the greatest memorial to the dead," the Soldiers and Sailors Club of New York, has been keeping open house twenty-four hours every day since 1920, in memory of those who gave their lives in the Great War and in their name all enlisted men of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard are always heartily welcome at the Club house when ever they are in the City of New York.

The Club house is located at 283 Lexington avenue, between 36th and 37th streets. It is about midway between the Pennsylvania and Grand Central railroad stations, is near subway, surface and elevated lines and in walking distance of the city's theatrical districts.

The Club is a home, not an institution. Some one is always present to maintain the club spirit of home life and extend a genuine welcome to every service guest. It is the only one of its kind in New York City, being exclusively for men in active service, where men from all branches of service can mingle and exchange friendly accounts of their experiences. Even though the uniforms are different, all are American young men sworn to follow the same flag, and are brothers in arms.

Men with honorable discharges can use the Club for two weeks after their service is ended.

Comfortable sleeping quarters are provided at a very modest price. The bed rooms are like home bed rooms. The beds are of a type that will insure a good night's rest. Floors are hard wood and there are small rugs, cretonne curtains, dressers, writing desks and lockers. A cafeteria is maintained where refreshments and good home cooked meals can be had at moderate prices. Commodious and comfortable lounging rooms and reading rooms are provided on two floors of the Club house. Current newspapers, magazines and interesting books are always on hand. Pocket billiard tables are for use at all times without any charge. Interesting games and a variety of musical instruments are provided. Writing facilities are kept available in a manner to suggest their use.

Group of young women have formed themselves into a girls' auxiliary and from this group partners are provided for the semi-weekly dances and hostesses for social afternoons and evenings. At the registration desk where guests sign up for rooms there is always some one on duty to greet the newcomer and make him feel immediately at home. This "greeter" is interested in finding them good accommodations and is glad to advise upon any question of what or where to go in New York City.

There is no charge for checkroom service rendered. Lockers equipped with showers and lavatories for the use of the transient guests are in the basement of the Club house. Soap and towels are provided for the guests without any cost to them. Each floor has its own shower and washroom. In short, it is a club and not just a place to pass the night. The primary purpose of the Club is to provide a happy and decent place for the men in the Service during their period of furlough or leave while in New York City.

H. E. NICOLAI,
Club Director.

Engagements

marriage of Miss Geanne Gravatte, daughter of Mrs. Whittington Gravatte, Washington, D. C., to Lt. LePage Cronmiller, jr., USMC.

The wedding will take place on the evening of April 26 in St. John's Episcopal Church. A reception at the Carlton Hotel will follow the ceremony.

Col. George C. Thorpe, USMC, ret., and Mrs. Thorpe, Washington, D. C., have sent out invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Betty Thorpe, to Mr. Arthur Joseph Pack, commercial secretary of the British Embassy, which is to take place at Epiphany Church April 29.

Of interest in Army circles is the announcement by Mrs. Joseph Vernon Campbell of Baltimore of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Helenor Campbell, to Maj. Stuart Gardner Wilder, USA, now a member of the advanced officers' class at Ft. Benning. The wedding will take place in Baltimore, June 28. On Aug. 9 Maj. Wilder and his bride will sail for Hawaii.

Personals

of the Army, Gen. Charles P. Summerville.

Mrs. Roseve H. Hearn and Mrs. Stacey E. Hill have returned to their homes in Atlanta, Ga., after spending the winter in Miami. They motored back, stopping at many other interesting places in Florida enroute, and then motored to Charleston, S. C., to see the Magnolia Gardens, then to Augusta, Ga., where they attended the horse show.

In February Mrs. Hearn and Miss Marshall Chandler, daughter of Capt. Lloyd H. Chandler, USN, ret., and Mrs. Chandler, sailed from Miami for Havana, where they spent a week, returning to Miami from there. Mrs. Chandler and her daughter also spent the winter in Miami and are now at their home in Washington.

Maj. Charles Walker McClure, USA, and Mrs. McClure, of Camp Normoyle, have returned from a two-weeks absence. They motored to Biloxi, Miss., where they enjoyed a visit. Enroute home stops were made in New Orleans and Galveston where they were entertained by a group of friends.

They were accompanied home by Maj. McClure's uncle, J. E. McClure.

Maj. and Mrs. McClure are to leave in the near future for Ft. D. A. Russell, where Maj. McClure has been ordered for duty.

Weddings

The bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin and carried a large bouquet of Easter lilies, while her attendant, attired in daffodil chiffon with a large braid hat to match, carried a cluster of yellow roses and delphinium.

The bride was graduated from the Eastern High School in 1924, afterward entering law school at George Washington University.

The bridegroom, the youngest son of Mary Thorne and the late Henry M. Walter, attended Central High School and was graduated in the class of 1928 from the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y. He is stationed with the 6th Field Artillery at Fort Hoyle, Md., where the couple will go immediately on the return from their honeymoon through the South.

The bridegroom's mother and brother are residing at Tilden Gardens.

Miss Helen Maxwell Stevenson, daughter of Mrs. Maxwell Stevenson, jr., of Philadelphia, Pa., was married April 12, 1930, to 2nd Lt. Elmer Henry Salzman, USMC, at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

Band Bill To House

SENATOR BINGHAM'S bill (S. 1011) to commission the Army bandmasters, amended so that no bandleader should suffer loss of pay by reason of passage of the bill, and that prior service should be counted in computing rank instead of the pay period, passed the Senate on April 17.

Aeronautical Notes

WITH 37 high-speed pursuit planes completed at Boeing Airplane Company and delivered to Rockwell and Selfridge Fields, the remainder of the contract of 90 P-12B singleseaters will be delivered to the Canai Zone, Hawaiian Islands and the Philippine Islands.

For many years the Boeing Company has been shipping planes to foreign possessions.

Two all-metal monoplane pursuits, the first to be produced and successfully operated in the United States, have been manufactured by the Boeing Airplane Company for Army and Navy requirements.

Pilot Ed Allen flew the Navy model from Seattle to Washington, D. C., where it is now being flight tested by the government. Pilot Les Tower took the Army model to Dayton, leaving Seattle at 6:25 a. m. Pacific time and arriving at Omaha 6:25 Central Time, a distance of 1575 miles and an elapsed time of ten hours. Tower flew from Omaha to Dayton, a distance of 710 miles, in four hours, ten minutes.

When you consider that the World War air fighting took place between the 15,000 and 18,000 foot levels, the difficulty of climbing suddenly to nearly twice those altitudes becomes apparent, yet it is being done, says a bulletin of the Boeing Airplane Company.

The Boeing P-12 single seat Wasp powered Army fighter, corresponding to the Navy Boeing F4B, of the type which appeared at the Air Corps maneuvers at Sacramento, has been flown to an altitude of 31,200 feet by Lt. George Price of the 95th Aerial Squadron.

Air Bombing Tests Begin

Mitchel Field (Special)—Equipped for extended field service, the entire 6th Observation Squadron AC left on April 15 for Camp Dix, for its annual Spring gunnery and aerial bombing tests.

The six new Curtiss Falcon planes each manned by two officers, have Browning machine guns electrically regulated to shoot through the propeller and are equipped with Browning flexible guns for the observer in the rear cockpit. Radio is installed in one plane.

One hundred enlisted men with a motor truck convoy of gasoline, radio, water, and passenger cars, went to camp the same day.

At Camp Dix the field training is divided into preliminary and record phases, with marksmanship tests with front and rear machine guns, using ground targets. Later fragmentation bombs are dropped at ground targets.

Block Nurses' Bill

PASSAGE of H. R. 10375, giving retirement to disabled nurses of the Navy, was blocked in the House of Representatives April 11, upon objection of Representative Collins, Democrat, of Mississippi.

Mr. Collins declared that he opposed the matter because "in effect it is a bill carrying an increase in pay, and it should be considered by the joint committee on pay." Representative LaGuardia, Republican, of New York, during the debate on the measure stated that he could see no justification in placing the nurses on three-quarter retirement pay for disability, when employees of the Post Office and other government departments received only a pension when injured.

Message Center Traffic

THE War Department Message Center, in the office of the Chief Signal Officer, handled 781,796 words, of which number, 430,966, were original sent words, during March. This business represents a value of $16,437.78 to the government.

There was an increase of about 150,000 words during the month.

Fleet Corp. Reports

CHAIRMAN O'CONNOR of the Shipping Board has issued the report from President Gordon of the Merchant Fleet Corporation covering the quarter, January to March inclusive, representing some of the accomplishments during his tenure as President of the Fleet Corporation, with suggestions for future operations.

Chairman O'Connor stated that great progress is being made toward getting our affairs into shape for further transfer of Government operations to private capital on a permanent basis.

High lights of the report follow:

Sale of Vessels—Twenty-eight vessels, or 187,914 deadweight tons, were sold during the quarter for operation and scrapping for $1,026,850. Fifteen of these vessels were sold for scrapping in this country. In addition, 21 vessels have been just advertised for sale for scrapping. A survey is being made of all the vessels in idle status to determine what vessels of the Fleet are assignable to the scrap heap, in order to avoid further expenditure for maintenance of the vessels in this class.

Insurance—The amount of insurance written in our Insurance Fund is approximately, $50,000,000. On Feb. 1st, 1930, schedules involving a horizontal increase of 25 per cent in all premiums charged was put into effect, approximating $250,000 increased revenue over last year's business, which action was necessary in order to safeguard against a further deficit in our Insurance Fund.

Operations—Negotiations on the Lump Sum contract basis have been concluded with all the North Atlantic Managing Operators (except on those lines advertised for sale) and the contracts are now awaiting approval by the Board. The result of the operations of the Southgate Nelson Corporation where this agreement has been in effect for nine months has proven satisfactory, and has produced increased revenue and substantial decreased voyage expenses compared with former operations in this trade.

The repairs to the entire Fleet for February show a reduction of $100,000 under those for January, and under the average monthly repair costs for the previous six months.

Plans are under way for disposing of the quantities of supplies and materials now on hand which have been permitted to accumulate, and for the disposition of some or all of the five bunker fuel oil stations now maintained in different parts of the World.

Traffic—Notwithstanding the slump in traffic and the general reduction in freight rates in all trades, our operations for the three months just passed compare favorably with the budget as prepared at the beginning of the fiscal year. Plans for the consolidation or re-arrangement of the Gulf services to a basis on which these lines could be sold to private interests are under way and will be presented as soon as the matter of the Lump Sum Agreement is disposed of.

Hog Island—Sale of Surplus Property—Recommendation for the sale of Hog Island has been presented to the Board and it is proposed to recommend a plan for the sale of the property known as Forty-five Broadway, both of these projects being in line with the general liquidation program.

Finance—A special effort is being made to reduce the number of accounts receivable, and to settle as rapidly as possible old Managing Agents accounts.

With the saving which can be effected if the Lump Sum Agreement is put into effect, it is felt that we can keep within the tremendously reduced budget of only $6,000,000, for the approaching fiscal year, notwithstanding the widespread slump in shipping.

Financial Digest

DURING the past thirty years the purchasing power of the dollar has decreased materially, and it is equally true that there have been other periods when the value of the dollar rose," it is stated in a recent bulletin issued by the Standard Collateral Shares Corporation.

"For this reason every well-balanced investment portfolio should contain both bonds and stocks, one as a hedge to protect the other and thus compromise for the up or down trend of the purchasing power of the dollar," it goes on to say. "The buyer of a bond is speculating in the changing value of the dollar, as well as on the probability of receiving back dollar for dollar, and in the ability and integrity of the borrower. In this last respect he is in the same position as is the stock-buyer; the buyer of a stock is speculating in the future of a particular industry or a single company in that industry. The speculative element of the bond cannot be eliminated nor can the speculative element of a single stock. As any single stock may contain elements of speculation so may a small group of stocks experience speculative advance and decline.

"Inasmuch as the trend in national wealth is upward, it is evident that those businesses now engaged in producing the wealth participate fully in that growth while those not producing additional wealth are either at a standstill or going backwards.

"How then can an investor in stocks eliminate the speculative features and participate in this expansion of wealth, thus assuring the advantages offered by sharing in this upward trend? The answer is in one way, and one way only, and that is to diversify his investment in common stocks so widely that to a reasonable extent at least it will be an investment in the country's business as a whole."

Army Day Editorial

ON THE OCCASION of Army Day the New York Herald-Tribune published the following editorial:

The United States Army spends most of its time laboring quietly, so that the country may be as well prepared as possible if war should break out. From the Philippines to Key West the Regulars are drilling, teaching, studying and experimenting—often at considerable personal risk but seldom with the applause of the populace ringing in their ears. Therefore, when they do have a spectacular day no one can begrudge it to them.

The Army had just such a day yesterday. Reserves, National Guardsmen and wiry Regulars marched in one long khaki column up Fifth avenue, while a large crowd watched them. Yellow streamers came twirling down from the skyscrapers along the route, the echo of the bass drums and brass bands resounded mightily, and the regimental flags fluttered gaily in the clear spring sunlight. They made a fine showing, and every one who saw them may well have been proud.

The parade was held in celebration of Army Day, an occasion which should call to mind the place of the Army in our national life. As is well known, the Regular Army is very small and under the terms of the national defense act it would bear the first shock of a great war. The real brunt of it would be borne by soldiers who are now civilians. One of the chief duties of the Regulars, therefore, is to train civilians in the art of war, should the unfortunate necessity arise. If small in numbers, the Regulars must be highly efficient and must keep abreast of the very latest contributions to military science.

The Army needs help from Congress and support from the general public. From time to time there has been talk of reducing the number of officers instead of an effort to increase their pitifully low salaries. For a would-be responsible person to talk of reducing the Army is well nigh criminal. Such a reduction would be a danger to all persons of military age, for it would deprive them of knowledge essential to the preservation of life in war time. The Army should certainly not be reduced. It should be adequately provided with the means to carry on its great mission as effectively as possible.

Increased Public Support

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Secretaries of the Treasury, War, Navy and Commerce, members of the Joint Congressional Pay Committee, Senators and Congressmen from Mississippi.

Vicksburg Chamber of Commerce.

President.
W. H. MINER,
Secretary-Manager.

Louisiana

THE Alva Sealey Chapter No. 6, Department of Louisiana, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, has adopted a resolution which follows, in part:

Be It Resolved, That the Alva Sealey Chapter No. 6, Department of Louisiana, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, go on record as favoring a substantial increase in pay for officers and enlisted men, both active and retired, of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health and Geodetic Survey, recommended by the Interdepartmental Board as an act of fairness and justice for their long record of faithful and efficient public service in all of their efforts in behalf of the American people, and that it urges its representatives in Congress to do all within their power to bring about immediate legislation giving increased compensation for the officers and enlisted men of the services named above.

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President, the Senate and House Military and Naval Committees, the Senators and Representatives from this State and to every Chapter of Disabled American Veterans of the World War in the State of Louisiana.

Adopted by the Alva Sealey Chapter No. 6, Department of Louisiana, Disabled Veterans of the World War, April 11, 1930.

E. A. McKINLEY,
Commander.

Sacramento, Calif.

THE following editorial appeared in the Sacramento, Calif., Bee:

A joint Senate and House Committee is working on proposals to raise the pay of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Geodetic Survey and Public Health service.

The matter deserves serious attention.

Most of these government services are poorly paid in comparison with private work of a like character. The result is that it is very difficult for the government to keep good men.

Of late years this fact has been particularly noticeable in the case of Army and Navy Aviators. Many of the best of these have gone over to the commercial companies because of the vastly greater financial return.

It is almost impossible for junior officers in the Army or Navy to keep their heads above water unless they have private incomes, especially if they marry. And this continual struggle against debt is not favorable to the maintenance of a high morale in the service.

The United States should and can pay for the best men that can be had in its military and semi-military services.

But it can't get them without some adequate compensation.

Lafayette, La.

THE Stanley Martin Post, American Legion, of Lafayette, La., adopted the following resolution:

To the Joint Investigating Committee on Service Pay (through the Hon. Edwin S. Broussard, the U. S. Senate).

Whereas, all ex-Service men still hold a continued interest in the welfare and conditions affecting the officers and men of the Army, the Navy, Coast Guard and other Services and

Whereas, it is the opinion that the rates of pay are at present little more than that of 1908 and certainly not on a par with like positions in civilian occupations, considering the high standards required of the men concerned and the present cost of living, and

Whereas, an increasing number of highly qualified officers and enlisted men are severing their connections with the Services each year for more attractive occupations on the outside when they are an invaluable asset to the country both in times of peace training and in case of a major emergency.

Be It Therefore Resolved, that the Stanley Martin Post of the American Legion go on record as endorsing the joint Service Pay Bill soon to come before Congress and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Navy, the Joint Army and Navy Committee of Congress, and to the Joint Investigating Committee on Service Pay through the Hon. Senator Edwin S. Broussard. Maxime D. Doucet, Post Commander.

EVANGELINE CHAPTER, Louisiana Department of The Reserve Officers' Association, adopted the following:

To the Joint Pay Investigating Committee (through the Hon. Edwin S. Broussard of the U. S. Senate).

Whereas, the pay of the Army has remained virtually stationary for 21 years and the pay of other branches of the Federal Service has been increased from 25 to 175 per cent in the effort to meet the rising costs of living and to retain in the Federal Service the high class of personnel desired, and

Whereas, the officers, members of this chapter, on active duty with those of the Regular Army and receiving like compensation, fully realize, through personal experience, that the pay of the Service is entirely inadequate to meet actual living expenses on the scale required by officers of the Army, and

Whereas, the Service is losing, through resignation, many highly qualified officers because of the failure of our Government to provide sufficient pay and allowances,

Be It Therefore Resolved, that the Evangeline Chapter, Louisiana Department of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, go on record as endorsing the report of the Interdepartmental Board with increases in pay, commensurate with the rise in the cost of living since 1908 and petition the members of Congress from this District to give this matter their prompt and favorable consideration and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Navy, the Joint Army and Naval Committee of Congress, and the Joint Investigating Committee of the Pay Situation through the Hon. Edwin S. Broussard of the U. S. Senate.

Leo W. Davis, Capt., Inf.-Reserve,
President.

Huntington, W. Va.

THE following resolution, quoted in part, has been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington, W. Va.:

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce of Huntington, W. Va., recommend that the necessary legislation be enacted to provide adequate and just compensation to the personnel of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service; and

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the President, to the Chairman of the Military and Naval Committees in the Senate and House, and to our Senators and Congressman and to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Red Bank, N. J.

THE following resolution, quoted in part, has been adopted by the chamber of commerce of Red Bank, N. J.:

Be it resolved, that the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Red Bank, New Jersey, has here gone on record as favoring an increase in compensation paid officers and enlisted men, both active and retired, of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health and Geodetic Survey, recommended by the Interdepartmental Board as an act of justice, and that it urges its representatives in both branches of the Congress of the United States to do all within their power to have legislation enacted during the Seventy-first Congress to bring about increased compensation for the officers and enlisted men of the above named services.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Senate and House Military and Naval Committee, and the Senators and Representatives from this State.

Easter at Walter Reed

THE musical features of the Easter Sunrise Service at Walter Reed Hospital have always been of a high order. This year the musical arrangements promise to surpass anything given before.

The United States Army Band begins the service with a Sacred Concert under the leadership of W. J. Stannard. They give the following numbers: "The Angelus," by Massenet; a cornet solo, "The Holy City," by Adams, with Second Leader Thomas F. oDarcey as the soloist, and an "Easter Fantasia," by Lake.

In the place of the usual chorus choir a double quartette composed of the following voices: Florence Sindell, soprano; Emily Coville, soprano; Mabel Flohr, contralto; Ann Yago McGuffey, contralto; George Myers, tenor; Granville Leef, tenor; Thomas Leef, bass; John H. Marville, bass and director, will render three selections—Giorza's "An Easter Alleluia," Granier's "Hosanna," and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus," from "The Messiah."

The prominence of these singers, under the leadership of John H. Marville, who is the director of the Hamline M. E. Church Choir, assures a musical rendition of the highest order.

A. C. Oliver, Jr., the Army Chaplain at this great medical center, inaugurated an Easter Sunrise Service four years ago. This service has grown in beauty and in size, until now it commands a nation-wide attention. Stations in every section of the United States and Canada will give this program to the public, under the direction of the National Broadcasting Company, at 7:30 a.m., on April 20, 1930.

Among the radio stations to broadcast the services will be: WEA, New York City, N. Y.; WCSH, Portland, Me.; WRC, Washington, D. C.; WGY, Schenectady, N. Y.; WOC, Davenport, Ia.; WOW, Omaha, Neb.; WDAF, Kansas City, Mo.; KSTP, St. Paul-Minneapolis, Minn.; WEBC, Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis.; WPTF, Raleigh, N. C.; WJAX, Jacksonville, Fla.; WIOD, Miami Beach, Fla.; WSM, Nashville, Tenn.; WFAA, Dallas, Tex.; KSL, Salt Lake City, Utah; CKGW, Toronto, Canada, and WGR, Buffalo, N. Y.

There has been prepared a realistically costumed tableau entitled "The Empty Tomb," a very beautiful portrayal of St. Luke's account of the women's visit to the Holy Sepulchre early Easter morning. Col. Julian B. Yates, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. Army, is scheduled to give the Easter message of assurance.

Navy Treaty Discussed

sive hearings for the Senate, during which every phase of the past will be gone into. Obviously the Naval viewpoint will be given in detail and in all probability recommendations will be asked for the inauguration of the new building program.

The text of the battleship section of the treaty as printed in a special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune follows:

"1. The high contracting parties agree not to exercise the fullest extent of their respective rights for constructing or acquiring through replacement the tonnage in capital ships under chapter 2, part 3 of the treaty limiting naval armament signed at Washington on Feb. 6, 1922, and to limit such rights in the manner prescribed in the following article.

"2. The high contracting parties agree that the time prescribed in chapter 2, part 3, section 1A of the Washington treaty as that in which, subject to certain other provisions in the treaty, capital ships may be replaced and scrapped, should be postponed, and agreed not to lay down any of the capital ships for the laying down of which, in the years 1931 to 1936, inclusive, provision was made in the above mentioned treaty. It is understood, however, that France and Italy may build the capital ships they are entitled to build under the Washington treaty prior to 1930 which have not been laid down up to the present time.

"3. The following arrangements are also mutually agreed upon between the high contracting parties concerned in the amendment of that part of section 2, part 3, chapter 2, of the Washington treaty which deals with the scrapping of ships:

"(a) The United States will scrap the following ships: namely, the Florida and Utah. One of these shall be rendered unfit for further warlike service within 12 months of the ratification of the present treaty, and finally scrapped within 24 months of such ratification. The other ship shall be rendered unfit for further warlike service within 18 months of the ratification of the present treaty, and finally scrapped within 30 months of such ratification.

"(b) The British empire will scrap the following ships: namely, the Marlborough, Emperor of India, Benbow, and Tiger. Two ships shall be rendered unfit for further warlike service within 12 months of the ratification of the present treaty, and finally scrapped within 24 months of such ratification. Two ships shall be rendered unfit for further warlike service within 18 months of the ratification of the present treaty, and finally scrapped within 30 months of such ratification.

"4. The following ships may be retained for training purposes: By the United States, the Arkansas or Wyoming; by the British empire, the Iron Duke; by Japan, the Hiyei.

"The work of reducing these vessels to the required condition shall begin within 12 months of ratification of the present treaty in the case of the United States and of the British empire and 18 months in the case of Japan; the work shall be completed within 6 months from the expiration of the above mentioned periods.

"5. The high contracting parties agree that in the years up to 1936 no other capital ships shown in section two, part three, chapter two of the Washington treaty need be scrapped, excepting that France shall dispose of any new capital ships permitted by that treaty to be laid down before 1930 are laid down at a subsequent date."
